SHANGHAI, Nov. 26.—With Chinese troops feeling in disorder before the invading Russian army, two appeals, one by the Nationalist government of China at Nanking and another by Manchuria, were addressed today to President Hoover, the league of nations and to individual signatories of the Kellogg pact.

Both appeals plead for action to halt Russia's invasion of Chinese territory.

The appeals termed Russia's aggression as a deliberate violation of the Kellogg pact, which pledged all the nations signing it to outlaw war. Both Russia and China signed the treaty.

Manchuria's appeal was cabled direct to President Hoover, asking the President to communicate with the signatories of the Kellogg pact with the purpose of organizing a committee to visit the Manchurian border and investigate the alleged aggression.

The message cites various alleged incidents of the Russian invasion, accompanied by looting and massacres.

The appeal also asks that the President call on the signatories of the Kellogg pact to take action to stop the Russian aggression.

ROBBERS BALKED
BY AUTO BRAKE
AFTER WILD RIDE

Two young men in an automobile stolen in Chicago drove up to the Conrad bakery at Momence, Ill., last evening, lined seven employes against the wall, and kidnapped the proprietor, Henry W. Conrad, after he had opened the safe to convince them the bakery collections had been banked earlier.

Speeding east towards the Indiana line the robbers threatened to kill Conrad unless he produced $10,000. The prisoner had no cash at hand, but he offered to write a check. At his suggestion they stopped at the Grant bakery in Lowell, Ind., where Conrad offered a check. The Grants had only $15 in the till.

The kidnapers drove on with Conrad. They were headed toward Lafayette, where Conrad felt certain he could cash a check, when the emergency brake, clamped on since the stop at Lowell, began to smoke. Near Cook, Ind., the kidnapers abandoned Conrad and the car, stopped a smaller machine and ejected from it Carl Schutz of Lowell and his 7 year old daughter, and drove away.

The abandoned car was identified as that of Henry L. Oppenheimer, an accountant of 105 West Adams street, Chicago.

TO U. OF CHICAGO IS ANNOUNCED

A gift of $1,500,000 by the General Education board of New York to the University of Chicago department of education was announced last night by President Robert M. Hutchins of the university.

"The grant has been made because of the university's special opportunity for increased usefulness in the study of children of pre-school age, the study of backward and abnormal children, and the study of college education," said President Hutchins.

Terms of the grant provide that the university shall add to the gift from other sources so that the annual budget shall be increased $75,000 within five years. In fulfilling the purpose of the gift the university will appropriate a portion of it for salaries and operating expenses and a portion for erection of new buildings.

Canine Damon and Pythias
Are Rescued

Belmont, Mass., Nov. 26.—[Special.]—One is a mournful-faced, leoparded mongrel, a hound dog. He is just the sort of clumsy lout that's always lumbering about and getting himself into difficulty. Then he turns troubled eyes, pitiful, in their helplessness, up to the world and whimpers for "some one to come and get me out of this."

The other is an Alredale. No bench show champion is he; just a shaggy-coated, frowny-headed beast. But beneath his rough eyebrows shine eyes of intelligence. From his ancestors who helped Scotch poachers in the lairs of the forbidden lands of "the lairds" he inherited ability to take care of any situation.

Between them they furnish a Damon and Pythias romance, which has stirred this neighborhood in turmoil for days.

Scouts Play Their Part.

Some eight days ago a party of Boy Scouts found tracks in the woods indicating that an animal had been caught in a trap and had succeeded in dragging it off. Later, near by residents glimpsed the hound, the trap dangling from his injured paw, limping through the woods whining and sick from fright and suffering.

Perhaps the connected the steel thing which bit into his leg and clanked behind him with the smell of man, and so feared man, who once had been his friend.

Always close beside the hound was the Alredale. He, too, seemed to fear and hate man, for he snarled and threatened and covered up the halting retreat of the hound.

One Forages for Food.

The country folks tried to coax the hound out with food scraps, but he refused to come, and when the food was left on the ground the Alredale promptly darted from the trees, snatched what he could, and hurried to the hound with it.

Finally the Scouts succeeded in catching the exhausted hound when his companion was off on a foraging trip.

Too exhausted to fight, he wheeled soft sob as the rescuers removed the steel grip from his leg. Then as the pain eased his fear-inspired hate lessened. When surgeons at the dog hospital dressed the wounds he licked their hands and deep down in his throat uttered sounds of happiness.

His brown eyes gave proof of his thanks that he again had found friends to get him out of his troubles. The Alredale, his duty done, took up residence with a farmer. The hound is going back home for Thanksgiving. His master is coming to take him to Nahua, N. H.

SUITOR SHOTS
GIRL FRIENDS ON FAREWELL VISIT

Morgan Gibson, 26 years old, a salesman, who until recently was in the Bel-Ships apartments, 1520 Bryn Mawr avenue, to bid farewell to his sweetheart, Miss Florence Kohl, 28 years old, a stenographer for the Central Trust company.

Miss Kohl's sister, Mabel, 25 years old, was in an adjoining room with a visitor, Fred Weir, 4244 Kenmore avenue, a process server. They heard Gibson shout, "If I can't have you nobody will."

As Mabel Kohl and Weir went to the door Gibson drew his pistol, firing three times. One bullet pierced his sweetheart's leg. The second shattered the sister's left leg and the third struck her in the head.

Gibson fled, but the police captured him early this morning at his home, 2835 Warren avenue, to which he was traced by a telephone number found in the girl's room. He was taken to the Edgewater hospital, where the Kohl sisters identified him. Both young women were reported in critical condition.

In Gibson's pocket was found a letter addressed to George A. Pavlonias, a watchman for the Central Trust company, who lives at the Warren avenue address. In the latter Gibson apologized for taking Pavlonias' gun and said he had decided to kill "Flo."

BOARD SLASHES
OWN SALARIES;
CALL ON JUDGESSeek to Reduce Huge Deficit.

In the midst of bewildered efforts by the county, school and city authorities to discover ways out of their financial bog, the county commissioners last night, after many hours of grave meditation, reached a verdict.

They decided to reduce their own salaries 20 per cent as a starter; then to ask all other elected officials whose salaries are fixed by law to accept voluntarily the same reductions, and finally to reduce the salaries of every employe of the county at the same rate.

A One Year Reduction.

The fifty judges of the Criminal Circuit, Superior and other courts, the state's attorney, coroner, sheriff, clerks of courts, and other county officials all will be asked to get along on four-fifths of their salaries for one year, leaving the other fifth in the treasury. The commissioners consented to cut their own pay from $7,500 a year to $6,000.

This drastic action is absolutely necessary, the commissioners declared, if the county budget is to be kept within the available revenue. The county faces a $6,000,000 deficit.

The commissioners after drastic parings in other expenditures concluded that salaries throughout the county service must be cut to absorb $2,000,000 of this deficit.

Council Hunts Cash.

While the commissioners were holding a night session in their rooms in the county building the members of the aldermanic finance committee in the city hall were dolefully contemplating similar steps.

Under the insistence of Ald. John Clark [30th], chairman, the committee agreed that it would keep its budget within the expected revenue. But the city hall forces, led by Ald. Oscar Nelson [45th] and Louis B. Anderson [24th], launched a battle to find more money to spend, so that the cutting wouldn't be so painful.

If the governor does not act, Caldwell well said, the schools will be closed in the fall of 1930. President Caldwell on several previous occasions has made the same doleful predictions.

After the county commissioners had announced their plan for retrenchment, an effort was made to see what cooperation they would receive from other elected officials. Most of the judges when interviewed denounced the plan to reduce their salaries while the county officials said they would agree to accept the reductions.

Where Cuts Would Hit.

A hasty analysis by the commissioners indicated that elected county officials and judges receive an annual aggregate in salaries of $1,029,000. A 20 per cent saving here would net $205,800, a tidy sum for the budget, it was agreed.

A table showing roughly the annual salary of each elected county official, the total salaries, and the saving which would be effected by a twenty per cent reduction for a year follows:

Position	Salary	Total
President county board	$12,000	$12,000
14 county commissioners	7,500	105,000
30 judges	2,500	75,000
County clerk	9,000	9,000
4 clerks of courts	9,000	36,000
3 referees	10,000	30,000
5 assessors	9,000	45,000
Treasurer	19,000	19,000
Sheriff	9,000	9,000
State's attorney	9,000	9,000
Recorder	15,000	15,000
Coroner	9,000	9,000
Total	$1,029,000	$1,029,000
Savings of 20 per cent		$205,800

The principal effect of such a renunciation of salaries by officials, the commissioners declared, would be the salutary effect it would have upon the underdogs of the county service, the lower paid employes, who will have to assume its reduced wages any deficit that is not made up in other ways.

"I don't see why they should ask me to accept such a reduction in my salary," said Judge William N. Gemmisch.

Indict Head of Big Rum Ring
and 14 Others

(Pictures on back page.)

Paul Morton, alleged head of a wholesale liquor syndicate and brother of the late "Najla" Morton, who was killed when he was thrown from a horse in Lincoln park several years ago, was named with 14 others on eight counts in a federal indictment made public yesterday, charging conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act. The indictment, voted by the October grand jury, was kept secret until yesterday so that the men named could be apprehended. Morton and several of the others accused have been arrested and are at liberty on bonds.

Under the terms of the true bill Morton and his alleged lieutenants are charged with possession, transportation, and sale of whiskey and beer. The seventh count charges manufacture of liquor and the eighth names them for conspiracy.

about it, but the more I see of this case the more I have come to the conclusion that the attitude of the state in this case does not appeal to the court.

"I shall speak for the state," he announced loudly. "We shall do nothing of the kind."

Judge and Leesch Battle.
There ensued the following colloquy: ATTORNEY MILTON SMITH—We don't want him to nolle prosequi the case.

JUDGE DAVID—I don't care what you want. I am tired of wasting time in this case.

MR. LOESCH—If your honor would do less talking, we wouldn't waste so much time in this case.

JUDGE DAVID—I don't care to be talked to that way by you, Mr. Leesch. You are an old man and respect is due you, but—

MR. LOESCH—All right, all right. JUDGE DAVID—I have been patient with you—

MR. LOESCH—And I've been patient with you. I respect your age and standing at the bar, but in this case, sir, you are all wrong from beginning to end. You have not taken the position of an impartial prosecutor, sir, and your attitude has been that of a state's attorney desiring to see justice done.

Recalls Bribery Testimony.
You have put witnesses on the stand here time after time who are so palpably guilty of perjury that it smells to heaven," continued the judge, striding up and down on the stand.

"You have put on witnesses who have testified to going on a bribe. You were compelled to nolle prosequi charges against two of the defendants. [John Armando and James Balcastro.] Your case is so weak there is no chance of going on."

"I think you have been acting in good faith, but I think you have been greatly imposed on by crooked investigators, some of whom ought to be in the penitentiary, or by witnesses who were so palpably guilty of perjury that there is something strange about this case."

"That any one could believe that this policeman here, this big officer [Lieut. Carroll], who could be identified by a child, could, without the slightest excuse, motive, or justification, go out and murder a man is inconceivable to any one who has the slightest knowledge of the administration of justice."

His Over Woman Witness.
It was at the morning session when Judge David had made a similar speech, somewhat milder in tone, that Prosecutor Leesch burst forth in answer. The wrangle on this occasion was caused by the testimony of Mrs. Helen Madigan, a state's witness, who became confused in her evidence and contradicted herself at various times.

After sending her out, Judge David said to the prosecutor: "Is there anybody on earth glibble enough to believe that woman's story?"

"I do," returned Leesch, tartly. "Then go on and try to make the jury believe it," advised the judge.

"I will," said Leesch. "She testified like an honest woman."

"I think she is not only a dishonest woman but I think she is the most unmitigated liar that ever was on the witness stand," declared Judge David.

David Hurls Lie at Witnesses.
"Everybody is a liar that identifies Carroll under my interpretation," retorted the prosecutor.

"Most of them are," shouted the judge.

"Most of them are not," returned Leesch in just as loud tones. "That is the attitude this court has assumed and that is unprecedented in the annals of judicial history in Cook county."

"Your honor, when this witness testified yesterday that she was offered $100 to change her attitude, did you take the defendants to task?"

"No. You did not say a word, your honor. Your attitude in this case condemns you as a partial judge. You have shown your attitude from the beginning, and I want the public to know my attitude and the state's attitude, as well as yours, sir."

Leesch Continues Attack.
"Everybody is perfectly able to hear any of these criticisms," remarked the judge. But the prosecutor had been aroused and he continued: "We have been sitting here and taking your criticisms which were unqualified and unnecessary under the circumstances, sir."

"The difficulty about you, Mr. Leesch, is that you are not only a dishonest man but I think you are the most unmitigated liar that ever was on the witness stand," declared Judge David.

HOOVERS TO DINE ON 18 LB. WILD TURKEY THANKSGIVING DAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26.—[Special.]—An eighteen pound wild turkey has been selected by the President to grace the White House table on Thanksgiving day. Eight turkeys in all have arrived at the executive offices during the week. The seventh and eighth turkeys to reach the White House arrived today. One was brought to the executive offices personally by Senator G. P. Nye [Rep., N. D.], in behalf of the Greater North Dakota association. Another big bird arrived from the Maple Crest farms of Wellman, Ia.

Neither of the Hoover boys will be home for Thanksgiving. Allan will remain at Harvard and Herbert Jr. on the Pacific coast, where he is employed by the Western Air express. The President and Mrs. Hoover will attend church Thanksgiving morning, but not at the Friends' meeting house, where they are accustomed to worship.

Leesch, replied the judge, "is that the criticisms have not been severe enough. I think that this case—and I am not charging you or anybody else—was deliberately manufactured against these police officers. If I were the state's attorney and had heard the testimony in open court here I would have somebody in jail."

Defense Offers an Alibi.
The defense, in opening its side of the case, adopted two lines of attack. Witnesses were placed on the stand to attack the veracity of the state's witnesses and an alibi was proved for Lieut. Carroll and his squad.

Two women and a man furnished the alibi for the police lieutenant. They are Mrs. Alma Schroeder, 1935 West 14th street; Mrs. Elsie Wagner, 1635 Hastings street, and Ernest Cunis, 810 South Bishop street. Mrs. Schroeder had been a judge, Mrs. Wagner a clerk, and Cunis a worker at the polls on the day Grand jury was sworn.

All three testified that Lieut. Carroll and his squad visited their polling place at 1548 West 14th street at exactly 5 o'clock on primary day and remained chatting there for some minutes. State's witnesses have set the time of the first shots fired at 1222 Blue island avenue, a mile away, at five o'clock.

Flag Fixes the Time.
The witnesses fixed the time of Lieut. Carroll's appearance because they said they remembered that the flag was being taken down from outside the polling place at the time. The polls closed that day at 5 o'clock.

The veracity of Mrs. Madigan, state's witness at the morning session, was attacked by a series of witnesses who said they were well acquainted with her. Each, in answer to questions, said that her reputation for truth telling was bad and that they would not believe her under oath.

Mrs. Madigan had definitely identified Lieut. Carroll as one of the slayers. The trial will probably be concluded today, the defense indicating it would close with Lieut. Carroll's story. Court attacks looking back over the eight days of the hearing, with at least one sensational scene featuring each day in court, were engaged in an argument over possibilities of this trial as a talking picture reproduction.

The consensus was that Mrs. Tine would give it four stars and a crescent moon.

DUTCH OIL CHIEF WILL ARRIVE IN N. Y. TOMORROW
New York, Nov. 26.—[Special.]—With the arrival of Sir Henri Detering, manager director of the Royal Dutch/Shell Oil interests, Thursday on the Homeric, conferences are expected to start on the question of closer cooperation of foreign oil interests operating in the United States with the efforts toward conservation which have been instituted by the American producing companies.

Sir Henri is making the trip for the purpose of addressing the American Petroleum Institute at its annual meeting to be held in Chicago, beginning Dec. 3. He is not expected to start for Chicago until Sunday night.

STATE, LACKING EVIDENCE, FREES 2 IN SLOT TRIAL

Witness Is Reluctant to Involve 19 Others.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Henry Doster, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary by Judge Otto Kerns.

John Salko, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in Pontiac reformatory; Anthony Vitell and Sam White, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life each in the penitentiary; Joseph Olrich, embezzlement, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary by Judge John J. Sullivan.

Bonnie Brecheiser, burglary, sentenced to 1 year to life in Pontiac reformatory by Judge Jacob Hopkins.

Two of the twenty-one defendants in the so-called $100,000 slot machine syndicate case were freed yesterday in Judge John P. McGorrey's Criminal court. Assistant State's Attorney Henry Ayres, who for a year worked secretly putting together the slot machine case, confessed at the end of the second day of the trial that he had no evidence against these defendants.

Martin Guil-MARTIN GUILFOYLE foyle, known as (Tribune Photo.) northwest side racketeer and gambler, was the first to walk out of the courtroom. He left the crowd of defendants soon after the 2 o'clock session of court started.

Fred Mills, president of the Mills Novelty company, had the stigma of indictment removed from his name just as court adjourned for the day. Both cases were nolle prosequi by the prosecutor.

Leaders Still Unmentioned.
No mention has yet been made in the state's evidence of the names of the six police captains and Dr. William H. Reid, Thompson political leader, whom the prosecutor accuses of being the backbone in the conspiracy to operate slot machines under police protection.

The captains, who, according to Prosecutor Ayres in his opening statement to the jury, took bribes of $100 to $500, are Patrick J. Collins, Dennis M. Malloy, Richard P. Gill, Michael Tobin, Hugh McCarthy, and Michael Dolan.

William E. Keeney, a jobber of vending machines and scales, who is considered the state's second string witness, occupied the stand throughout the entire day. He was just placed under cross examination of Attorney Benedict J. Short and George Guenther, representing the captains, when court adjourned.

Witness Appears Reluctant.
Keeney, a tall slender man, spoke with deliberation and weighed each word before he answered the sometimes sharp questions of the prosecutor. He obviously did not want to give any testimony, which would hurt the defendants on trial. He displayed a different attitude, however, when talking of the missing James [High Pockets] O'Brien and the others.

Keeney told without reservation of his dealings with O'Brien, Hubbard N. Cooper, Joseph Mahoney, Robert Graham, Jocko Davis, and one Carter. These men are accused of operating slot machines in chosen territory throughout the city. All of them are fugitives.

Keeney estimated his own share of the profits from the slot machine racket at $100,000 during the period of the alleged conspiracy from December, 1927, to May, 1928. O'Brien, the fugitive whom the state calls the "brains" of the racket, received 45 per cent, while Keeney retained 55 per cent. This would make O'Brien share a sum somewhat less than $100,000.

Keeney said that O'Brien told him he was giving David C. Rockola only a 25 per cent split on his machines. Rockola is the state's star witness, who is standing on his constitutional rights and refusing to testify. He was in court yesterday, but nothing was said about his refusal to testify.

The big fight of the day came when Prosecutor Ayres said he wanted to introduce testimony showing that a threat was made to blow up Keeney's factory unless slot machines were taken from a certain territory. O'Brien sought and received protection for Keeney's factory from one of the police captains on trial, the prosecutor said.

"The state is starting out with the old bombing story," shouted Attorney Short. "Every time the prosecution makes a weak case, they use the old chestnut about a bombing, hoping to inflame the jury."

Judge Rules Out Evidence.
The judge ruled the evidence incompetent because at best it would be hearsay, and that anyhow the captain, whoever he might have been, was doing his duty in protecting the place from a bomb.

Keeney related how districts were paroled out to the missing defendants their agreement to pay him $200 to $300 per week. The only defendant he named in this connection was a man indicted as one Milbourn, but whose real name is George Weibourn. His testimony as to Milbourn, however, was the first to walk out of the courtroom. He left the crowd of defendants soon after the 2 o'clock session of court started.

3 NEAR DEATH AFTER CROSSING CRASH ON I.C.

Cook County Motor Toll Rises to 898.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Nov. 26.—President Hoover's consultations over the American industrial situation have lent interest here to Premier Mussolini's methods in dealing with the annual slump period in the automobile industry in Turin.

For the next three months work in the Fiat factories will total only a few hours each week per man. Formerly men were laid off. This year no agreement was reached between the employers and Fascist syndicates, so appeals were made to Il Duce.

Premier Mussolini ordered that during the slack period each worker will get five days' pay per week for whatever number of hours he works. Later, when full activities are resumed, the difference between the time actually worked in the slack period and the time for which the men were paid will be deducted from their wages. Deductions from men's wages are to be made gradually over a long period.

Under Fascist labor legislation employers are not permitted to lay off men merely because business is slack, without giving them the usual indemnity, as when they are discharged without reason. Premier Mussolini's decision has been received with gratification by the Turin automobile workers, who today sent him a telegram of thanks.

HUNGARY HOUSE HURLS INSULTS AT ITALIAN MINISTER
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUDAPEST, Nov. 26.—Italy robbed us of our harbor of Fiume! Murderers of Matteotti! Italy demands that we Hungarians pay reparations! Down with Italy!

This was the welcome the Italian minister of culture, Balduino Giuliano, received from the Social Democrats when he entered parliament here this afternoon. The house was in an uproar for more than fifteen minutes with the government deputies attempting to drown out the Socialists by shouting:

"Italy is the only nation among our former enemies that is supporting our just demands."

The Italian minister, pale faced, watched the uproar for several minutes and then walked out of the government box. The government deputies bid him goodbye in the Fascist manner, with outstretched right hand, and Minister Giuliano answered similarly.

ROBBERY JURY SHOWN A TALKIE OF CONFESSION

Judge Approves Film as Evidence in Trial.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 26.—(Special.)—For the first time in any court of law a defendant's talking-motion picture confession was accepted yesterday as evidence in Quarter Sessions court.

Counsel for the accused protested strenuously, saying he was deprived of the opportunity of cross-examining the "mechanical robot" and suggesting the possibility of voice substitution or "cutting" of the film.

Judge James Gay Gordon Jr. listened to the expert technical testimony on the mechanism of the talking film appliance and announced that he was satisfied the new method was not only legal but better evidence of confession than had heretofore been produced in a courtroom.

Loot Placed at Over $10,000.
The experiment was demonstrated at the trial of Harold Roller, 31 years old, confessed robber of twenty-five houses between May 20 and Oct. 25, from which the total loot was between $10,000 and $12,000.

The sound film placed Roller in a room predicament, for in it he spoke and acted his guilt upon a screen only a few feet from where he sat in the flesh assuming the role of an innocent man. Events today, although the trial was not concluded, left little doubt regarding how the jury will resolve the contradiction.

Officials in Courtroom.
Room 453, city hall, scene of the "first run" of a crime talkie in any courtroom, held an unusual and interested audience. Among those present were District Attorney Monaghan, Director of Public Safety Schofield, Police Superintendent Milla, Inspector Connelly, to whom Roller made the recorded film confession, and numerous representatives of the motion picture industry.

The reel lasted six minutes on an improvised screen near the jury box in a darkened courtroom and during a tense silence.

The film showed Roller seated at a desk with Inspector Connelly and Miss Geraldine Naughton, police stenographer. First cautioned by Connelly that anything he would say might be used against him, Roller confessed his guilt. The film was clear and showed the voice reproduction.

Judge Favors Experiment.
Assistant District Attorney Maurer, who was aided by Assistant District Attorney Fenerty in prosecuting Roller, formally offered the picture recital in evidence. John Whitaker, Jr., attorney for Roller, objected but Judge Gordon overruled him.

"There is no harm in hearing this little version of the confession," said Judge Gordon. "Both the commonwealth and the defendant benefit by this method of recording statements of the accused. I am in favor of the experiment and hope to see the system extended and perfected."

"Such a confession is more valuable than a mere oral or signed confession. Here we have vision and sound synchronized."

SUES PARK RIDGE POLICE; CHARGES 4 DAY 3D DEGREE

Contractor Asks $100,000 for Alleged Injuries.

Mitchell Accadia, a plumbing contractor of Norwood Park, yesterday filed in the Circuit court a $100,000 damage suit against Chief Harold Johnson and the Park Ridge police force of seven men. The amount is asked for injuries alleged to have been received in a third degree investigation to which Accadia was subjected while under suspicion for robbery of the Park Ridge city hall.

Accadia was arrested on Oct. 14, 1929, two days after the city hall was robbed. The arrest was made by Policeman Louis Gill, who stopped Accadia as he was en route to his home from Chicago in a taxicab, according to the bill. Accadia alleges that he was held in the Park Ridge jail for four days and was subjected to inhuman treatment.

Beaten by Police, He Says.
He says the police disordered his declarations that he could prove his innocence through friends and refused to permit him to call his wife. During his first day of incarceration Accadia doggedly held that he was not guilty, said his attorney, H. Ward Hidenrich. The police are alleged to have beaten him until he made a confession.

The bill states that he suffered a broken jaw, a fractured rib, and a mass of bruises covering his chest, back and legs. The police are charged with having used revolvers, blackjacks, night sticks, and a rubber hose in their efforts to obtain an admission of guilt. Accadia declares that he still bears marks of their violence.

Confesses on Third Day.
On the third day, Accadia says, he made a complete confession of the crime and also to a number of unsolved crimes on the Park Ridge police blotter to escape further mistreatment. After the confession he was held until the police could verify his story.

On the fourth day Chief Johnson is said to have released him, declaring that it was all a mistake. The police investigation revealed that the confession was spurious and that the acts confessed could not have been committed by him, Accadia says. He was allowed to go home where he found his wife prostrate with anxiety, he declared. The bill says that Accadia has been at his home since his release recovering from his injuries.

A girl accomplice drove him away.

MOTHER GOOSE FACING BAR IN TRIAL FOR LIFE

Nursery Folk Quaking in Their Shoes.

BY TOM PETTEY.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

New York, Nov. 26.—(Special.)—Mother Goose is on trial for her life in this witch ridden city and a lot of lady professors are hurling adjectives at one another with reckless abandon up in the sacred precincts of Columbia university's teachers' college.

Today it appears as if New York had grown too literal minded for the foolish philosophy of the poor old lady and that the present generation of children, so far as Columbia educators can see to it, will have to give up Peter Piper, the Old Lady in the Shoe, Simon the Pieman, and as royal a crowd of companions from the animal world as ever romped their way through the tattered pages of a nursery book.

Sad Days for Fairies.
These are sad days for poor old Mother Goose, the we fairy folk, for Miss Mary Duggan of the bureau of educational service at teachers' college has declared that nursery jingles and fairy tales must go. The Moo of the Moo Cow, Red Riding Hood and the Hungry Wolf, Goldilocks, the Little Red Hen, Jack the Giant Killer, and even frightened little Peter Rabbit are taboo.

In place of these old friends who have made their homes in a million nurseries for more years than a grandfather can count, the thousands of teachers being graduated from teachers' college each year, if Miss Duggan has her way, must put the stories of truth—tales of good boys and girls who eat their cereal and spinach and become strong men and women. Other Columbia brand nursery stories tell of children who brush their teeth three times a day.

Broomstick May Go.
Teachers headed by Prof. Annie Moore and Jean Betner of the children's literature course and Miss Alice Dalgleish, teacher of story telling for young children, hold a different opinion. They would not put Mother Goose to death but they would take her broomstick away and give her a vacuum cleaner. They advocate retaining only the best features of the old lady's works as well as those of Grimm and Hans Christian Andersen, and adding to them the better modern children's tales. The new trend in fairy tales is moderation, they say.

Miss Duggan quite enthusiastically quoted the "Red Horse" as an example of the best of the modern nursery fiction. Peter is the hero of this tale and he is the boy who "ate 'n ate 'n ate 'n ate spinach and loved and loved to drink his milk every day until he was strong enough to lift his little horse Trott Trott high over his head."

Frowns on Spinach Yarns.
Miss Dalgleish, teacher of story telling for the spinach yarns. She believes that literature for young children should be a balanced ration of fact and fancy, stories of the engineer, the fireman, and the postman, she suggests, with a few of the better fairy stories to top them off.

Meanwhile slightly bewildered parents are wondering what will happen when Mother Goose wins a place on the suppressed book shelf. Hickory, Dickory, Dock may yet become a naughty night club song.

DRUNKEN NIGHT RIDERS ACCUSED OF FIRE MURDER

Girl Charges They Killed Suitor, Attacked Her.

Mountainview, Ark., Nov. 26.—(AP)—A band of intoxicated night riders who terrorized this community in efforts to prevent the marriage of a mentally deficient youth of 20 and a girl of the St. James community today was blamed by Sheriff Sam Johnson for the mutilation and burning alive of Connie Franklin, farm hand and prospective bridegroom.

Preliminary legal steps were taken today for the trial on Dec. 16 of five men under first degree murder indictments in which Prosecuting Attorney Hugh Williamson will oppose his younger brother, Ben B. Williamson, former state senator, employed as chief defense counsel.

Two Accused of Attacking Girl.
The accused men are: Bill Younger, father of five children, and Hubert Hester, both in jail at Newport; Herman Greenway and Joe White, in jail at Batesville, and Alex Fuiks, in jail here.

Greenway and Hester, in addition to first degree murder indictments, face statutory charges in connection with an attack on Franklin's 16 year old intended bride.

Sheriff Johnson quoted the girl as saying she and Franklin, who had been a patient at the state hospital for nervous diseases, were on their way to be married when they were accosted by a band of men. Franklin was mutilated, she said, and after fainting from pain was tossed upon a blazing log fire by the men who, she said, expressed the belief he already was dead.

She told the sheriff two of the men inflamed by liquor led her into the woods and attacked her.

Reprisals Threatened.
The grand jury was hampered in its investigation for months by threats of reprisals made by the night riders to those they thought might throw light on the crime, Sheriff Johnson said.

The sheriff added that his investigation has disclosed other information on which warrants for four other men are to be served.

THREE CHILDREN DIE IN THIS FAMILY'S SECOND FATAL BLAZE

Phillipsburg, N. J., Nov. 26.—(AP)—Three of the children of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Verenna were suffocated or burned to death at their home here today in the same manner in which their sister met death exactly six months ago. The dead were Clara, 13, Charles, 8, and Mary, 6.

The children were trapped in a room on the second floor in flames created by the attempt of their mother to kindle a fire with the aid of kerosene.

Rosie, 9, was burned to death on May 26 in a fire which followed a similar attempt of Mrs. Verenna to start her stove.

UTILITIES WILL TELL PROSPERITY PROGRAM TODAY

Insull and Others to Confer with Hoover.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Washington, D. C., Nov. 26.—(Special.)—President Hoover will be in session tomorrow with a group of public utility executives to discuss the construction work by the public utilities of the country. The President was advised today that a committee of twenty-seven, comprising the best known men in the industry, will come here from New York, where conferences took place today.

The public utility representatives will include spokesmen from the electric power and light interests, the gas companies and the street railways. The three groups held separate meetings today in New York to canvass the situation in the different fields. Chicagoans on the public utility committee are Samuel Insull of the Commonwealth Edison company, Harold Erickson of the Bylesby Engineering and Management corporation, and Guy A. Richardson of the Chicago Surface Lines.

Final Conference of Series.
The public utility conference will be the last in the series arranged by the President with different groups as part of his program for stabilizing business conditions. The future development of the program will be largely in the hands of Secretary of Commerce Lamont and officials of the chamber of commerce of the United States. Secretary Lamont will be in charge of the coordination of public works construction by the states and municipalities, while officials of the chamber of commerce will handle the activities among trade associations.

The President received additional telegrams today from governors in reply to his appeal for the speeding up of construction of public works. It was stated that most of them were along the line of those made yesterday, pledging cooperation with the President's program.

Reserve Board Hopeful.
The monthly business review of the federal reserve board, made public today, emphasizes the fact that while there has been a decline in industrial production the present level remains above that of a year ago. The review said in part:

"Production in basic industries, which had declined for several months from the high level reached in mid-summer, showed a further reduction in October. The board's index of industrial production decreased from 117 in September to 114 in October, a level to be compared with 114 in October of last year.

"The decline in production reflected chiefly further decreases in output of steel and automobiles. Daily average output of shoes, leather and flour also declined, while production of cotton and wool textiles increased. Preliminary reports for the first half of November indicate further reduction in output of steel and automobiles, and a decrease in cotton textiles.

"Volume of construction, as measured by building contracts awarded, changed little between September and October and declined in the early part of November."

Business Outlook Bright on Wide Front, Surveys Show

New York, Nov. 26.—(U. P.)—President Hoover's message to governors of the 48 states asking their cooperation in building projects is expected to exert a powerful influence on general business conditions in the New York City territory, in the opinion of leading observers.

Leading department stores are going ahead with plans for record-breaking Christmas business. Retail trade is brisk. Even the luxury lines are not suffering as much as had been expected.

Most larger companies are proceeding with plans for heavy building operations. Both the Consolidated Gas company and the New York Telephone company have authorized large extensions.

Building permits are showing gratifying increases. Manufacturing operations are described by trade authorities as well above a year ago.

Southwest Progresses.
Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 26.—(U. P.)—Public and private construction, wages and employment, and agricultural and industrial production in the southwest compare favorably with or show improvement over invoices reported a year ago, a survey showed today.

"All factors in our economic structure are in a strengthened position," Conrad H. Maun, president of the Kansas City chamber of commerce, said of the southwest.

Colorado Employs Many.
Denver, Colo., Nov. 26.—(U. P.)—Employment in Colorado and New Mexico during the coming year will equal or exceed that of 1928, business and industrial leaders said today.

Colorado's industries have shown noticeable increases in production and consequent increases in personnel. New Mexico must supply men for two large projects, the $10,000,000 Rio Grande drainage and flood control project and a new railroad into Lea county.

Georgia Business Good.
Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 26.—(U. P.)—Healthy optimism pervades business circles of Atlanta, with steady improvement in employment, strong retail sales and a greater building program than in any two previous years, Frank K. Shaw, secretary of the industrial bureau of the Atlanta chamber of commerce, said today.

Building Projected.

And if we do, the history of the world will dip its pen in irony and headline the chapter dealing with this period, 'They talked themselves out of prosperity.'"

But within the last twenty-four hours I have been in touch with the leading national publications and advertising agencies and in every case I found increased appropriations for the immediate future. I learned that old line advertisers, who, through experience, have come to know the value of this medium, are taking advantage of the situation by increasing their regular appropriations for the coming year."

U. S. IS AS RICH AS BEFORE STOCK CRASH—HURLEY

Trade Leader Sees Bright Prospects for 1930.

E. N. HURLEY.

Dwindling of some stock values during the recent speculation crash does not represent the disappearance of one ounce of material wealth and the nation's industry has no need to feel alarmed, Edward N. Hurley told the Illinois Manufacturers' Association at the Palmer house yesterday.

Mr. Hurley is head of the Hurley Machine company and an outstanding business leader of Chicago. He is a former president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association and was instrumental in the formation of the "cost" unit of that organization in 1916. He is a former chairman of the federal trade commission, was war chairman of the United States shipping board, and a member of the world debt commission.

Calls 1930 Outlook Bright.
"There is nothing wrong with American business and the outlook for 1930 is most encouraging," Mr. Hurley declared. "We have everything today that we had on Sept. 1 in the way of brains, wealth and earned income. Nothing is gone except some delusions as to the amount of profits which American industries might earn in years to come."

Some Below Average.
Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 26.—(U. P.)—With the iron and steel industry operating at only 80 to 85 per cent of capacity, employment in Pittsburgh is not quite up to the average of last year.

U. S. Seizes Plane with Ram as Canada Raids Own Docks.
Detroit, Mich., Nov. 26.—(U. P.)—United States immigration officers late today confiscated a rum laden airplane and arrested its pilot at a landing field on the outskirts of Detroit. Across the Detroit river in Canada, Windsor provincial police raided liquor export docks, between Belle river and Amherstburg, in a drive against Ontario's liquor problem, the illegal dispensing of liquor declared for export. American officers found 12 cases of whiskey in the plane.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 26.—(Special.)—Maj. Owen R. Bird, 42, world war officer, sportsman, and former track star, shot and seriously wounded his friend, Percival G. Watson, 56, a mechanical engineer, during a fight in the presence of Mrs. Laura Bird, his wife, he admitted to police today.

The fight, in which Bird sent three shots into Watson's body, occurred late last night at the Bird home. Mrs. Bird supported her husband's explanation that Watson incurred Bird's wrath when he interfered in an argument between husband and wife. She repeatedly begged for word from the hospital on Watson's condition, and is being held as a material witness.

Maj. Bird said he had been drinking heavily and left the house after a dispute with his wife. When he returned, he said, he found Watson still with his wife, ordered him out of the house, and the fight started. He is held on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder.

Real Gain of Wealth of 4 per cent has been realized during this present year, a rate of progress unprecedented in the history of the human race, and this gain never at any time was distributed materially by anything that happened in Wall street."

Robert W. Lyons, secretary of the National Chain Store association of New York, argued that chain stores are an economic asset to general business rather than a social and economic menace. Other speakers at the luncheon were George R. Meyer and M. A. Berns. James D. Cunningham, president of the manufacturers' organization, was chairman.

CERMAK RETURN STARTS GOSSIP ABOUT CAMPAIGN

Despite his occupation with the budget and other county board matters, the return of A. J. Cermak from Florida was said to be responsible yesterday for a sudden increase of talk about what the Democratic county central committee, of which he is chairman, will do in the way of getting ready for the spring campaign.

Chairman Cermak denied that any activity on his part was the cause of the outburst of gossip.

"This budget has given me my hands full for the present," he said. "These political matters can go over until after Thanksgiving at least."

It is said that the Cook county Democratic leaders already have begun to look around for a big Chicago man, possibly a banker, for the race for state treasurer. Downstate Republicans have managed to hold to this spot for many years.

Among those mentioned were Marvin A. Traylor, president of the First National bank, and Edward N. Hurley, prominent under the Wilson administration.

The other big state-wide place, the United States senatorship, has been under discussion among the Democrats for some time, but a new name now brought into the field is that of Fred J. Kern, editor of the Belleville News-Democrat, wielder of a forceful pen and an effective campaign orator.

Trolley Trailer Jumps Tracks, Hits Street Car
Scores were shaken and one woman slightly injured by flying glass when the trailer of a Madison street car jumped the tracks at Kedzie avenue and crashed into the front of a Kedzie avenue car at the intersection shortly after 6 o'clock last evening. The woman passenger, whose name was not learned, was treated at a near-by drug store. Traffic was delayed for half an hour.

SUIT OF OUSTED PASTOR GOES ON WITHOUT GIRL

Don't Know Where She Is, Both Sides Say.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

(Picture on back page.)

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]—Whether the young woman whose charges against John A. L. Warren caused his ousting by his congregation as pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church of Durand, Ill., will be brought to testify in his $10,000 slander suit against seven of his former parishioners remained a mystery as the first day's testimony was completed today.

Courtroom Is Crowded.

On the other hand, attorneys for the defense, R. K. Welsh and Carl T. Welsh, said they did not know where the girl was. Carl T. Welsh said he believed Mr. Warren's attorneys are aware of her whereabouts.

The defendants are Judd Van Sickle, Albert E. Swinson, George Fritz, Mrs. Sylvia Sodaman, Wallace and Edgar Hunt, and Henry Graham, all of Durand.

Although today's testimony was not exciting the courtroom was crowded. The men far outnumbered the women, but at noon when the court adjourned, a man was heard to say to another, "Well, I must hurry home and tell Mrs. all about it," and the other replied that he guessed his wife would know more than he although she hadn't attended the session.

Retains Clerical Air.

In the corridors little cliques formed around the defendants, Durand having sent a large delegation to the trial. But the unfrocked pastor who since he was found guilty of conduct unbecoming a minister in October, 1927, by a jury of ministers in Oak Park on Miss Lamb's testimony, has worked as a laborer, was not without his friends.

Mr. Warren retained an air of the cleric as he sat behind his attorneys and took notes assiduously. When he left the courtroom he carried two brief cases and a law book. The former pastor is a young man with high forehead, flashing brown eyes, red cheeks and regular features. His voice is sonorous and his manner imposing, despite his worn clothes.

In his opening statement Mr. Knight, defense attorney, said that counsel for the former pastor would attempt to show that the defendants had other motives than that of duty when they conspired to have Mr. Warren ousted and that they procured Hazel Lamb's statement by telling her her reputation would be lost if she did not make it. They also would attempt to show, he said, that the defendants published the information in his statement before submitting it to church authorities.

Bishop Hughes on Stand.

A majority of the witnesses who testified today were members of the pastor's former congregation, or the church board. They told of attending various secret informal meetings of the board and others in the church and in Durand homes, where the pastor's alleged immoral relations with Miss Lamb were discussed. Although called by the plaintiff's counsel, they were reluctant witnesses, and their memories were not clear on many points.

Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes of Winnetka, bishop of the Chicago area of the Methodist Episcopal church testified that he attended a meeting in Freeport, Ill., May 12, 1927, also attended by Charles K. Carpenter of Freeport, then district superintendent of the Methodist Episcopal church, at which Mr. Warren's alleged indiscretions with Miss Lamb were discussed. The bishop said he could not remember the names of the other two

TECH PROFESSOR SEES BRIDGE AS LOWEST DEPTH FOR HUMANS

Boston, Mass., Nov. 26.—(P.)—Prof. Robert Emmons Rogers of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, who told a graduating class that they should be snobbish if they wanted to succeed, feels that playing bridge is the "lowest depth to which a human being can fall."

The professor so told 800 women and little more than a dozen men who heard him lecture on "Recent Books" at Prof. R. E. ROGERS' (P. & A. Photo.)

the Gardiner auditorium in the statehouse last night. His remarks on bridge playing were a digression and brought a laugh from his audience.

Rogers, who is a professor of English, declared in praising recent literary works by British authors, that "English writers live near the earth, while most of America's literary contributions are born in apartment houses."

men who attended the conference, but knew they were from Durand. He was asked if he could identify each of the defendants in turn, as one of the men, but he could not identify any of them. One was a brother-in-law of Miss Lamb, he said.

At one juncture he turned to Judge Arthur E. Fisher, presiding, and said he did not think he should be asked to testify concerning church affairs, and the court upheld him in that. He "rather thought" that the statement of N. E. Lamb, the girl's father, shown as plaintiff's exhibit No. 2, had been shown him at the meeting, but was not certain that exhibit No. 1, Miss Lamb's statement, had been shown.

First Trial at Durand.

The Rev. James O'May, Harvard, Ill., who was secretary of the Rock River conference at Oak Park, which tried Mr. Warren, identified both Lamb's and the girl's statements. The Rev. Frank Sheets of Oregon, Ill., who represented the church body at Mr. Warren's trial at Durand previous to the Oak Park trial, Mr. Carpenter, and the Rev. L. C. Winter of Durand, pastor of Warren's former church, were present at the trial.

Mr. Warren's counsel scored a point when Mrs. Anna Van Sickle, stepmother of Judd Van Sickle, one of the defendants, replied to his question, "when did you first hear the rumor of Mr. Warren's alleged illicit relations with Miss Lamb?"

The counsel for the defense had attempted to show that a rumor of the pastor's affair had become public knowledge before the defendants met to discuss it and "see what should be done about it."

"I first heard it from Judd Van Sickle, and it wasn't a rumor," she replied with emphasis. "He said Mr. Lamb was going to take Hazel to see Mr. Carpenter about it."

BALLOON BURSTS 6,200 FEET UP, 4 LAND IN 'CHUTES

Tuttle, Okla., Nov. 26.—(P.)—Four army balloonists today claimed a record for number of men making an emergency parachute jump as the result of a flight in which a gale carried their free balloon so high that it burst in the thin air, compelling the entire crew to jump at 6,200 feet.

The men were Lieut. John Carro, E. M. Fogelsonger and J. W. McCully, and Sergt. Mansfield of Fort Sill.

They had taken off from Post field for a training cruise and were caught by a brisk wind which carried them rapidly 50 miles across country, at the same time whirling them above the 6,000 foot level. As the air surrounding the bag became thinner the 32,000 feet of hydrogen inside pressed outward until it burst the rigging.

Evacuation of the basket was "according to regulations," said the report of Lieut. Carro.

JUDGE RAPS DRYS FOR JAILING OF MINOR VIOLATORS

Censure of federal prohibition of fliers who hold in jail prisoners arrested for minor offenses and not subject to prison sentence if convicted, was delivered by Federal Judge Wilkerson in United States District court yesterday. Judge Wilkerson's wrath was aroused when he learned that Jim Davis, 129 East 38th place, 18 year old colored boy, brought before him on a charge of possessing liquor, had been in jail 28 days. The judge dismissed the case. The maximum penalty is a $500 fine.

Judge Wilkerson said that agents should not ask for a warrant in such a case and instructed district attorneys to issue a summons for appearance of the alleged violator instead.

"I'll have no more men thrown into jail for offenses of which they have not been convicted before a court," he said. "Furthermore, from now on the practice of district attorneys of filing information against an alleged prohibition law violator after the defendant has had a hearing before a United States commissioner and been discharged will have to stop."

BOARD LOPS 20% OFF OWN PAY IN COUNTY CRISIS

Asks 50 Judges to Take Same Reduction.

mill, testify. "They haven't any right to make such a proposition."

"The commissioners had better read the constitution," exclaimed Judge David Mathett. "What they suggest is preposterous."

"I should like to know what caused this deficit," said Judge Michael L. McKinley. "Then probably I could answer one way or another."

One judge suggested that, since the county commissioners were up for reelection in the spring, they were playing a political game. It was likewise pointed out that many of the $15,000 a year judges have just been reelected for six year terms.

State's Attorney Swanson said he would accept the reduction if other county officials did the same.

Coroner Would "Take Medicine." Coroner Herman N. Bunsen put it this way:

"I would be willing to accept the same rate of reduction on my $9,000 a year salary which is to be imposed upon the employees of my own office or upon other county officials and employees. I think we should all take the same medicine, whatever it is."

Judge John R. Caverly said he wanted to be fair, but he pointed out that the judges spend all of their time at their duties, while other officials do not, and that judges are forestalled by law from engaging in any other business.

"I don't think reduction of salaries will accomplish the desired objective," said Recorder Clayton F. Smith. "I am willing to do anything within reason to help out in the situation."

"It doesn't appeal to me very much," said Judge John M. O'Connor, "and I'd say no."

"Quote me as saying no," said Judge William McCauley.

Switzer Goes Along. County Clerk Switzer said he would be glad to go along and cooperate. He has agreed that his employees also must take a cut in pay, he said.

M. S. Symczak, clerk of the Superior court, agreed to the salary cut if it is shown that it will really help the county, and not merely delay another financial collapse.

"Yes, I approve of that suggestion very much," said Sheriff John Traeger. "We should not ask any of our employees to take cuts in salary that we will not assume ourselves."

"I'm not very enthusiastic about it," remarked Judge Marcus Kavanaugh.

Judge John P. McGorty thought it would be dangerous to set a precedent, whether voluntary or involuntary, for judges to agree to a reduction in salary.

Barnes Recalls Campaign. "After just passing through a campaign, and paying $4,500 for the privilege, I certainly don't feel like contributing 20 per cent of my salary," said Judge Albert C. Barnes. "I'd say no."

"They're not going to get a yes from me," declared Judge Francis B. Wilson. "If they would tend to their business as well as I tend to mine they wouldn't be in the fix they are in."

The county commissioners present at the budget session, all of whom assented to the reduction of their own salaries, are President Anton J. Cermak and Commissioners Harry A. Newby, William Buse, Louis Nettiehorst, Emmett Whalen, Francis Boutwell, Oscar Schmidt, Frank Krix, Andrew Metzger, John Gibson, and Maurice Kavanaugh.

Commissioner Nettiehorst proposed the self-sacrificing maneuver after all the commissioners agreed that it was an inescapable fact that county salaries must go down. Then Commissioner Boutwell suggested that a round robin be sent to all other elected officials, including the judges, inviting them to join the movement.

"If we are cutting down our own appropriations, for all supplies as well as salaries, to a point where we are just able to keep our charitable institutions running, we are not in a position to fix the deficit."

It is expected that by Friday the judges' committee of the Circuit court, which under the law has been holding hearings to determine the number of employees necessary for operation of the fee offices, will have reported. These judges have been reported in revolt against the economy plans of the county board and as determined

BITTEN BY DOG

MRS. GEORGE E. Q. JOHNSON.

(Moffett Photo.) Mrs. George E. Q. Johnson, 7327 Crandon avenue, wife of United States District Attorney Johnson, was bitten on the leg last night when she tried to stop a fight between her bulldog and a stray fox terrier near her home.

She was bitten by the terrier, which was later captured by police and will be turned over to the health department for examination today. Dr. Yagve Jonsson, 7502 Cottage Grove avenue, was called and attended Mrs. Johnson, who had lost considerable blood. One of the terrier's teeth is believed to have punctured a small blood vessel in her leg.

tutions and other activities going, we feel that some of the burden must be met by county officials themselves," remarked President Cermak.

After much discussion the commissioners directed J. L. Jacobs, county efficiency engineer, and Controller Michael O'Connor to prepare figures which will show what saving may be effected under a sliding scale of salary reductions. It was decided that the reduction percentages would be graded according to salaries as follows:

Monthly Salary. Reduction Factor.
$125 or less. No reduction
$125 to $150. 5 per cent
$150 to $200. 10 per cent
$200 to $250. 15 per cent
Over $250. 20 per cent

After these figures are assembled, the commissioners said, it will be determined whether further reductions are still necessary. In this case, it was suggested, it may be necessary to appropriate for employees on the basis of an 11-month year, leaving it to department heads to cut down their forces during slack periods of county business, so that regular employees may work the whole year. Or, if the officials prefer, they may give employees a month's vacation without pay.

A Grim Necessity. The commissioners seemed determined to slash things. Commissioner Buse read a published statement from the civic federation announcing that the county board was expected to take drastic measures. "We've got to do it, men," he said grimly.

Even union employees and those under civil service will feel the brunt of reductions, it was asserted. The union scales will be unchanged, but appropriations will be on the basis of ten or eleven month years and the union employees will be required to spread their efforts on this basis to keep all county activities in operation.

The figures ordered by the commissioners will be available for them when they meet again today at 2 o'clock. A definite program of salary cutting then will be decided upon, and on Friday the heads of all county departments and the elected officials in fee offices will be summoned before the county board and informed of the situation.

Awful Judges' Report. It is expected that by Friday the judges' committee of the Circuit court, which under the law has been holding hearings to determine the number of employees necessary for operation of the fee offices, will have reported. These judges have been reported in revolt against the economy plans of the county board and as determined to fix the full number of employees necessary regardless of the county's financial situation.

In this event, the commissioners asserted, they will be compelled either to ignore the judges' report and cut the number of jobs down themselves or they will have to carry down the salaries of the employees or put them on an eleven month basis.

THE CITY SESSION

If the city expenditures for 1930 are to be kept within the revenue expected, the aldermanic blue pencils must scratch items in the budget totaling $9,000,000 the members of the city finance committee were informed by John Richert, secretary. The 1929 expenditures were approximately $53,000,000, and in 1930 additional items of inescapable expense not incurred in 1929 will amount to $3,900,000. Against this setup of projected expenditures of $57,900,000 there are available revenues of $53,377,000, leaving the $4,523,000 deficit.

"Any one who votes for a budget absorbing that kind of a deficit without first exhausting every method to raise additional revenues will rue the day," asserted Ald. Nelson, floor leader for Mayor Thompson. "It will bring about a situation which will make the World's Fair impossible, and give Chicago a reputation worse than that bandied about in gunman jokes."

"You are talking in generalities now," retorted Ald. Clark. "I have been trying to start on the budget for two weeks, and if we don't start now, we will be unable to pay employees on Jan. 15."

Plan a "Field Day."

Ald. Nelson and Anderson, before the session ended, won one concession from their colleagues. The committee agreed to meet Tuesday at 2 p. m. in the council chambers and invite Harry Cermak, manager of the reassessment, the board of review, the assessors and representatives of civic organizations will be present for a "field day" on finance.

Elimination of the zoning board of appeals, which would save the city $48,000, was mentioned but deferred until Ald. William R. O'Toole (14th), chairman of the building committee, could be present. The board, according to Ald. Clark, has been operating illegally.

"We can cut out this board entirely," suggested Ald. Joseph H. Smith (32d). "They have no power and they duplicate the work of the building commissioner. In the last month no matters have been taken to them to adjudicate, but have gone to the building commissioner instead."

To eliminate the board it is necessary for the council to repeal the ordinance creating the department before the end of the year, according to Ald. Clark. This matter will be taken up at the next meeting scheduled for Monday afternoon.

Firemen Rescue Family of Five in Gas Explosion. Five persons were rescued by firemen early yesterday morning when fire, originating in a gas explosion, threatened to destroy their second story home at 2614 Roosevelt road.

Capt. John Everett of Truck company No. 46 helped I. Feldman, his wife and three children to the street in their night clothes when smoke threatened to overcome them. Leonard Schwartz, proprietor of a lunch and pool room in the building told firemen he had had trouble with a leaky gas connection.

8 MEDICAL MEN TESTIFY IN CASE OF S. MCCORMICK

Doctors Say Patient Is Improving.

Santa Barbara, Cal., Nov. 26.—(Special.)—Newton D. Baker, counsel for Mrs. Stanley R. McCormick, and Oscar Lawler, counsel for Harold McCormick and Mrs. Emmerson Blaine, drew opposing interpretations from testimony given by eight physicians today in the nonjury hearings which will decide the course of treatment for Stanley McCormick.

The eight physicians testified as witnesses for the brother and sister faction, composed of Harold and Cyrus McCormick and Mrs. Blaine. They are seeking a court order from Judge William Dehy confirming the present course of treatment for their brother in an effort to rid him of the mental disorder which has gripped him since 1906.

Alling Man Improves.

Under questioning of Attorney Lawler for the brother and sister faction, the doctors in the main presented a picture of the ailing man as improving gradually in spite of mental lapses.

Under Baker's cross-questioning, several of the witnesses, particularly Doctors Franklyn Nussim and Olin Myers, gave additional testimony leaning more toward the counter petition of the wife, who seeks a ruling from Judge Dehy empowering her to change the course of treatment, dismise Dr. Edward J. Kempf, $150,000 a year fee expert, and replace the Kempf regime with another medical staff of her own.

Knows of Letter Writing. Baker secured Dr. Eaton's admission that he had known of Stanley McCormick writing letters of Christmas thanks and New Year's greetings to his brother, Harold, his mother-in-law, Mrs. Dexter, and his sister, Mrs. Blaine, in January, 1928, at a period which earlier witnesses had said was marked by a grossly disordered mind of the ailing man.

Other physicians testified they visited McCormick in February, 1929, and again in November, 1929, and that in the intervening months he had gained in concentration, coherence of thought, and the appearance of mental capacity.

Judge Dehy plans on Thanksgiving to visit the Stanley McCormick estate at River Rock in Montecito and see for himself the conditions under which the ward of the court is treated under the Kempf regime of psychiatry.

LESS THAN THIRD OF ARMY OFFICERS WEST POINT MEN

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26.—(Special.)—Of the 13,530 commissioned officers in the regular army and Philippine Scouts less than one-third are West Point men. Figures made public today by the adjutant general's office disclosed that 4,737 of the officers were graduates of the military academy. 3,373 went into the army from civil life and 2,229 from the Officers' Reserve corps. The table of statistics showed that more than one-tenth of the commissioned officers rose from the ranks. A total of 1,972 officers came from the enlisted men of the regular army. Of the balance of the officers 451 were formerly enlisted men in the national army, the National Guard and volunteers. At the present time there are 11,943 officers on the regular army active list and 87 on the Philippine Scouts' active list.

For COLDS

We all catch colds and they can make us miserable;
but yours needn't last long if you will do this: Take two or three tablets of Bayer Aspirin just as soon as possible after a cold starts. Stay in the house if you can—keep warm. Repeat with another tablet or two of Bayer Aspirin every three or four hours, if those symptoms of cold persist. Take a good laxative when you retire, and keep bowels open. If throat is sore, dissolve three tablets in a quarter-glassful of water and gargle. This soothes inflammation and reduces infection. There is nothing like Bayer Aspirin for a cold, or sore throat. And it relieves aches and pains almost instantly. The genuine tablets, marked Bayer, are absolutely harmless to the heart.

4 YEAR MINIMUM FOR GUNMEN SET BY PAROLE BOARD

State Sets Precedence for Long Term.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

"Hard boiled" will probably be attached soon to the state parole board if it continues the policy initiated yesterday and Monday in its sessions at Springfield. It fixed the penalty for convicted gun robbers at 4 to 13 years, the prescribed allowance for good behavior. Roughly, the good time deduction is a third of the term. Therefore, the present plan of W. C. Jones and his parole board is to keep gunmen locked up for four to eight years and eight months.

Under the new Illinois plan the average penalty for robbery while armed will be nearly twice as long as the average punishment for robbery throughout the nation. Apparently the new board is aiming at an average prison term for armed robbery at six years and four months, as compared with three years and less than three months as the average for robbery in 94 penitentiaries and reformatories of the United States.

Will Need More Cells.
One effect of this policy is that additional prison capacity must be provided immediately. The longer convicts are kept locked up the larger the prison population becomes. Joliet, Menard, and Pontiac are now overcrowded. After two men have been allotted to each cell there still remains about 35 per cent of the prisoners to be cared for otherwise.

As soon as Director of Public Welfare Rodney Brandon was informed of the new parole policy he announced that the state will rush the expenditure of $1,500,000 for new cells at once. "The contract has been let for 460 cells, costing $450,000, at Pontiac," said Director Brandon. "Plans have been prepared for 450 added cells at Joliet and Menard and contracts for their construction will be awarded within the next ten days. Because of the overcrowding we urgently needed the added cells. The longer term for gunmen emphasizes the necessity."

Is Impressive Punishment.
The tentative determination of four years as a minimum for armed robbery is impressive compared with the practice in the 94 prisons making reports to the federal government. The last published report, for 1924, shows that those prisons discharged 2,303 prisoners convicted of robbery. The records show that 69 per cent of those got out before they had served four years.

Of these 2,303 discharged convicts 221 gained their liberty in less than one year, which is about 9.9 per cent. The Illinois parole board does not even consider the case of a gunman until after he has served the minimum sentence of one year.

Of the 2,303 discharged, 585 got out after serving terms between one and two years. That is 25.4 per cent in that class. Those who served between two and three years totaled 469, or 20.4 per cent of the total. So, it appears that 57.7 per cent of the robbers in the nation's penitentiaries obtained freedom by serving less than three years.

Set Comparative Maximum.
Those who served between three and four years totaled 249 or 11.4 per cent. Up to this point, the Illinois parole board would have 100 per cent in prison, while the prisons of the nation have been in the practice of having turned loose 69 per cent in less than four years. The 94 prisons would have only 31 per cent of their robbers serve more than four years, while 100 per cent would have that penalty, according to the new parole policy in Illinois.

But all of the above does not tell the whole story of severity of punishment. The parole board has also decided to fix the term for gunmen upon prisoners who pleaded guilty to a "lesser offense," if they committed robbery with a gun. So the terms of certain prisoners sent down for larceny and petit larceny also will be longer.

On top of all that it may be recalled that Illinois has not been known as a short term state. The average time served in a state prison in Illinois has been longer than the average of every prison for the nation, with three exceptions.

Doubt Former Records.
At the conference yesterday in Springfield the utilization of the scientific material collected in the last 12 years was discussed. The conferees arrived at one conclusion. There is some question of the correctness of the state's figures prior to the last two years, on the success of its parole system. The conferees doubted whether so many paroled convicts have been put as have been represented by the small administration.

BALKS AT STAGE

(Pacific and Atlantic Photo.)

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 26.—Arthur Hammerstein, New York producer, admitted today he had urged Dorothy Mackaye to return to the stage, with his direction. She recently was paroled from San Quentin after conviction in connection with the slaying of her husband, Ray Raymond. Paul Kelly, movie actor, was imprisoned for manslaughter; she was sent to prison for withholding information about the killing.

She was offered the leading role in "Sweet Adeline," now playing on Broadway. Mrs. Hammerstein, Dorothy Dalton, Mr. Hammerstein said, has offered to adopt Miss Mackaye's daughter, Miss Mackaye's refusal to go on the stage, outside of California during the time of her parole, resulted in the abandonment of a "Sweet Adeline" road company, that was to have started in Chicago.

THREE SUSPECTS SEIZED IN HUNT FOR TRAIN BANDIT

Believed Familiar with Railroad Work.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Nov. 26.—(AP)—Three suspects were arrested here today for investigation in connection with the wrecking and robbery of the Union Pacific Portland limited east of here last night, in which passengers lost $500. Union Pacific officials said today it was fortunate that none of the passengers on the derailed train was seriously injured, and that an approaching eastbound freight and the fast westbound San Francisco limited did not crash into the wrecked Portland limited.

The derailed car blocked the double track right of way, and only prompt action in signaling the freight and the San Francisco limited prevented a collision.

Robber Believed Railroad Man.
Railroad officials are convinced that a man familiar with track work was responsible for the wreck and holdup, due to the fact that although the track was made insecure, the electric system was not disturbed and the block signal did not warn the engineer that the track ahead had been tampered with.

Mrs. Cornelia K. Bailey of Charlevoix, Mich., traveling to Portland, Ore., said her first thought was whether the train would plunge down an embankment.

"When the man stuck the gun in my face I was not nearly so frightened because then I was out of the train and on firm ground. He took the money in my bag, but I had left most of it in my berth. When some one said the robber was coming I hid my watch in my dress."

How One Man Saved His Cash.
W. B. Lydick of Tekamah, Neb., said that when the robber approached he told him, "I have a stiff arm due to an injury several years ago and can't put my hands up."

"When I told the man to search me," Lydick said, "and used a little strong language, he went without even trying to get any money."

Suspend Board of Trade
Operator for Two Years
William B. Massey, an operator on the Chicago Board of Trade, was suspended for two years by the directors yesterday. The charge against him was acting as principal and agent for a customer. The offense charged is a violation of the board's rules and state laws.

SECRETARY GOOD LEAVES $115,000 TO HIS WIDOW

Kin to Receive $200,000 of Mrs. P. J. Carr.

The will of James W. Good, late secretary of war, was filed yesterday before Edward S. Scheffer, assistant to Probate Judge Horner. It leaves his entire estate, estimated at $115,000, to his widow, Mrs. Lucy D. Good, 1414 Forest avenue, Evanston.

Under the will Mrs. Good is to receive the income of the estate during her life. At her death it is to be divided between her sons, James W. Jr., 19 years old, and Robert Edmund, 17 years old. The will provides that if the sons marry or venture into business they are to receive $25,000 at such time.

Farm Lands Not Mentioned.

The will was drawn on Nov. 25, 1927. It was filed by Secretary Good's law firm, Good, Childs, Bobb & Westcott. The will makes no mention of farm lands which Mr. Good is said to have owned in Canada, Minnesota, and Iowa, nor of an insurance trust fund. Both of these items are believed to exceed the estimate of the estate.

Mr. Good died in Washington on Nov. 15 following an operation for appendicitis. He was 53 years old.

Mrs. Carr Leaves $200,000.

The will of Mrs. Agnes M. Carr, widow of the late Patrick J. Carr, former county treasurer, was filed with Probate Court Clerk Michael C. Robin. It leaves the bulk of her $200,000 estate to her daughter, Margaret Isabelle, 16 years old. Mrs. Carr died on Nov. 18 at the age of 47. Her home was at 7612 Division street, River Forest.

The will lists bequests of $25,000 to Elizabeth Don, a sister; $15,000 to James W. McCauley, a brother; $25,000 to Joseph Vincent McCauley, a nephew; $10,000 to Mrs. Rose Graham, a sister-in-law; $20,000 to Mrs. Nellie Sullivan, a sister-in-law; and $5,000 to a foster daughter, Marie Hart.

The remainder of the estate is to be held in trust for the daughter. The codicil to the will under which the bequests are made was executed in Mrs. Carr's hand the day of her death.

CONVICT OSWALD, SALTIS GANGSTER, IN BURGLARY CASE

Steve Oswald, member of the old time Joe Saltis gang, was convicted yesterday of burglary by a jury in Judge William N. Gemmill's Criminal court. Oswald, although many times in the custody of the police for charges ranging from larceny to murder, has heretofore managed to escape with small penalties or fines. He is now subject to a sentence of 1 year to life in the penitentiary if his new trial motion is overruled.

Oswald's guilt was proven by a trail of blood, according to Assistant State's Attorneys Harold Keele and Martin Carney. He cut himself by breaking the window in the store of the Able Battery and Radio station, 1309 West 69th street, on July 8. The police traced the blood spots from the store to the home of Oswald's girl friend in a block away and there found the stolen radio.

"QUEEN" SAYS HOUSE OF DAVID KING LEFT A MILLION IN CASH

Benton Harbor, Mich., Nov. 26.—(AP)—Nearly $1,000,000 in cash is said to be in the "diamond house," one of the chief buildings of the House of David, in which still lies the mummified body of "King Ben" Purnell, according to a petition filed today in the Circuit court at St. Joseph by "Queen" Mary Purnell, consort of the late cult leader.

The petition asks that the House of David be dissolved and its property distributed among the members.

Mary's petition is an answer to injunction proceedings brought by Judge H. T. Dewhurst, leader of the opposition to Mary in the cult. Dewhurst sought to have the "queen" restrained from participation in colony affairs.

In her affidavit Mary says she is not a member of the House of David and therefore is not subject to its rules and regulations. She states, however, that she is one of the trustees to all the property.

When "King Ben" fled from his dwelling, eluding officers who were seeking him on statutory charges brought by Ruth Sanford Reed and Gladys Mansford Rubel, former members of the cult, he took with him $1,000,000 in gold and bills of large denomination, Mary states, and placed them in the "diamond house."

MAYOR WALKER MAY GET YACHT HOOPER REFUSES

New York Nov. 26.—(Special.)—The Mayor, pleasure yacht of five Presidents, but discarded as too great a luxury by President Hoover, may be handed to Mayor "Jimmy" Walker as a Christmas gift by a Santa Claus committee of his wealthy friends, the understanding being that title to the craft be vested in the city and that it take the place of the Macon, the official welcome boat.

It was said today that negotiations for the purchase have been carried on so quietly that even inner circles at the city hall know nothing about them. It is officially conceded, however, that the Macon has outlived its usefulness. Nothing more than a sublimated tugboat, it is not considered large enough for the mayor's committee of welcome and their guests. Besides, it cannot keep up with the usual river parades. On more than one occasion Chairman Grover A. Whalen and others on the city reception committee have felt humiliated as the Macon dragged along in the wake of other craft.

3 Monoxide Gas Deaths Accidental, Jury Holds

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Nov. 26.—(AP)—The deaths of Mrs. Alice Rugh and her two young children, Allen, Bert, and George, which occurred Nov. 10 from monoxide poisoning, were declared accidental by a coroner's jury today.

Several neighbors and friends of Mrs. Rugh testified that she was in a cheerful mood the day of her death. It was said that while her financial affairs were not in as good condition as a few years ago, she had no cause for worry.

STOP RUSSIANS! CHINA'S PLEA TO REST OF WORLD

Accuses Red Army of Violating Kellogg Pact.

20 Japanese residents of the town of Taiheio, opposite Blagoveshchensk, have already departed overland towards Tientsin in a terrific blizzard. The train on which they traveled corresponded to the one which this afternoon was crowded with White Russian refugees of the wealthier class on the way to Dairen or to Shanghai, in order to escape the "wrath of the Reds."

A Russian family named Rieger, whose father was manager of the extensive Sungari flour mills at Harbin, arrived here tonight with a 4 year old daughter, born in Los Angeles, Cal., and carrying her own American passport. The rest of the family carried Chinese certificates.

Japanese Are Wary.

The Japanese military authorities here are enforcing strict precautionary measures and closely examining credentials of travelers in order to prevent bolshevist agitators from entering the Japanese leased zone. Soviet Consul Jourba is still functioning here. Japanese military reports say Chinese troops have fled toward Tientsin in expectation of making a stand in the narrow passes of the Khingan mountain range.

Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang, head of the Manchurian government, stated there was a likelihood that Mukden may be forced to ask Nanjing to dispatch an army to the front.

6,000 Refugees in Harbin.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

HARBIN, Nov. 26.—There was no definite news today from Dalai Nor and the surrounding region of eastern Manchuria which is still occupied by Russian. More than 70 Japanese soldiers arrived here today for the purpose of protecting the Japanese consulate and nationals living here.

This city is facing a serious housing and feeding problem with arrival of some 6,000 refugees.

Washington Awaits Appeal.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26.—There were no indications today that the state department will take any immediate action as a result of the Chinese appeal to the Kellogg anti-war powers for aid in halting the Russian invasion of Manchuria. Secretary of State Stimson left for New York this afternoon and will not return until tomorrow. State department officials said that the Chinese appeal has not yet reached Washington.

As the Kellogg treaty contains no sanctions and depends on public opinion alone for its effectiveness, administration officials are somewhat at a loss as to what more can be done to settle the Chinese-Russian situation.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER GIVES AUTOGRAPHED NEW DIMES AS TIPS

Camden, N. J., Nov. 26.—(AP)—John D. Rockefeller is now autographing his shiny gift dimes.

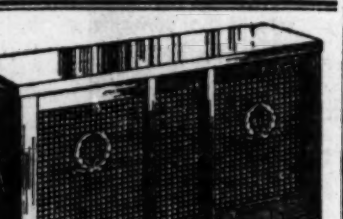

This became known today when Wilbur Campbell, bellboy at the Walt Whitman hotel, exhibited a new dime given him yesterday by the oil magnate. Mr. Rockefeller and his son were at the hotel for a short time, remaining for luncheon.

Mr. Rockefeller's hand touched Campbell's when the latter opened the door. The bellboy found a shiny dime in his palm but was amazed when he saw that a bit of blue ribbon was attached to it and bearing the autograph of John D. Rockefeller. So far as could be learned no other employee received a dime so marked.

Campbell is looking for a small frame that will provide a fitting setting for the gift.

Find Youth Disappointed in Love Dead Near Home

Alton, Ill., Nov. 26.—(AP)—Emmett Myhers, 23 years old, was found dead on the sidewalk a block from where he lived with his mother at a rooming house run by Mrs. E. Crane here today. Mrs. Crane yesterday found a note tied on the door of one of the roomers, Clara White, in which Myhers vowed his love for her, asked her forgiveness and bid her good-by after stating that "you are the cause of my death at last." Myhers had been employed until last week by a tire company here.

JAPAN LOWERS ITS DEMAND FOR BIG NAVAL RATIO

Final Instructions Given
Tokio Delegation.

BY ST. CLAIR MCKELWAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKYO, Nov. 26.—After receiving the formal sanction of the emperor, the Japanese delegates to the London naval conference today were given final instructions publicly.

It is now clear that Japan is willing to accept considerable concessions in the ratio of capital ships, but is not willing to accept a reduction in the ratio of auxiliary ships.

The Japanese program at the forthcoming conference which the emperor sanctioned, calls for a ratio of 10-10-7 for capital ships, 10-10-7 for auxiliary ships, and 10-10-7 for submarines.

U. S. TO OPPOSE HIGHER CRUISER RATIO FOR JAPAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 26.—[Special.]—Publication today of dispatches from Tokyo purporting to outline the Japanese program for the five power naval conference to be held in London the latter part of January occasioned little surprise in administration circles.

It had been expected Japan would seek a 10-10-7 ratio in cruiser strength and other auxiliary ships, as well as a reduction in the size of capital ships.

Japan's reported desire to leave unlimited the construction of small submarines was somewhat unexpected.

It is now certain that the United States will oppose several of the Japanese demands. From the beginning this country has been opposed to granting a higher ratio for cruisers than was given Japan for battleships at the Washington conference.

At that time the Japanese government accepted a 5-5-3 ratio for capital ships. Now Japan is represented as asking a 10-10-7 ratio in big cruisers.

American naval men are opposed to granting a ratio increase to Japan in view of the fact that the 5-5-3 basis was fixed as the fair one at the Washington conference.

from Premier Hamaguchi after Imperial sanction had been obtained. The scare which has been thrown into the Hamaguchi government by the graft scandal involving the last cabinet, seems to have been successfully smoothed by a statement from the department of justice establishing former Premier Wakatsuki's innocence.

Coincident with this whitewashing statement another statement from the same source lifted the local news band or five different political scandals involving both major parties.

The delegation will sail for America on Nov. 28. They will go directly to Washington, where preliminary conversations are planned.

Natsume Sato, chief of the secretariat of the delegation, left this afternoon for London by way of Europe. It is expected to see Premier Briand of France and discuss France's and Japan's attitude on submarines. Both countries favor retention of this class.

World Cut Capital Ships. The formal instructions to the Japanese delegation are composed of nine items, including official views on all classes of ships. Capital ships, however, should be reduced in maximum from 35,000 to 25,000 tons, and the gun caliber from sixteen to sixteen inches.

The instructions remind the delegates of Japan's sincere desire to lead to a conference to a successful conclusion, to avoid useless competitive bidding in the future, to further world peace and to reduce the people's tax burdens through lowering armaments. The fundamental naval policy is defined as "aiming at defense and protection of trade and navigations routes, and avoiding all aggression against other countries."

Great Britain's position will be required, but in case an opportunity presents itself, the delegates will have their own substitute proposals aimed at real reductions instead of mere limitation of arms.

Premier Gives Instructions. Hajime Wakatsuki, head of the delegation, and Takekazu Takarabe, an important delegate, received instructions from the emperor today.

FRANCE DRAFTS ITS PROPOSALS TO NAVAL PARLEY

Cabinet Chiefs Meet to Decide on Policies.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Nov. 26.—The first of a series of important conferences to outline France's position and define her policy at the forthcoming five power naval conference at London was held at the Quai d'Orsay this morning.

Premier Tardieu, Foreign Minister Briand, Minister of War Maginot, Minister of Marine Leygues, Minister of Air Eynac, and Minister of Colonies Pétain, representing the various ministries interested, were present.

M. Briand also indicated to his colleagues the status of the informal conversations going on with the Italian government for a preliminary accord on various questions so Rome and Paris can present a unified front to the Anglo-American proposals.

The session today opened with a long review of the naval disarmament situation by M. Briand, who recalled the proceedings at Washington in 1921, when he headed the French delegation.

M. Leygues followed with a technical exposé of the naval requirements of France for its dual operations in the Atlantic and in the Mediterranean and for protection of the sea lanes to its African possessions, where France will draw black manpower in time of war.

Gen. Maginot told of the war ministry's needs for a proper liaison with the navy and M. Pétain outlined the necessity of patrolling the lines of communications with the colonies.

Premier Tardieu suggested that technical experts from the various ministries form a subcommittee to draft a concrete lineup of the matters discussed embracing all the requirements for a common policy.

Tells of Talks with Italy. M. Briand then related the progress of the verbal pourparlers held so far with Count Gastone Mansoni, Italian ambassador here, and outlined the reply he proposed sending to Premier Mussolini, which Premier Tardieu had approved.

The principal obstacle against a Franco-Italian agreement is that the Fascist demand complete parity with France in all categories of warships. The French oppose this on the ground that Italy has only Mediterranean interests, while France also requires sea power in the Atlantic and in the English channel. The French also oppose giving Italy parity because of France's widely distributed colonial empire, whereas Italy's possessions are chiefly Tripoli and the area facing the Red sea.

Replying to Italy's questions regarding France's attitude on the problem of outlawing submarines, M. Briand announced France's intention of maintaining submarines. The French will also combat the proposal of President Hoover to make food ships immune in time of war as being impractical.

Baseball Pool Split 5 Ways, Says Witness

New York, Nov. 26.—[Special.]—Revelations concerning the operations of the baseball pool in Albany which in its palmyest year brought in profits of more than $4,000,000 were made today in United States District court in the trial of James J. Otto for perjury before a grand jury, which investigated the pool. According to one witness the proceeds of the pool were split five ways, politicians and a political organization in Albany being the beneficiaries.

This testimony was given by William F. Buchanan, who said the money was divided in this manner: One share to Otto, one share to himself, one share each to Edward O'Connell and Daniel O'Connell, Democratic leaders of Albany. One share to a man of the name of Corning whose identity was not established in court.

The split was made after 2 1/2 per cent of the pool's profits were given to the political organization headed by the O'Connells, the witness said. He added that in 1927 the pool made more than $4,000,000 clear profit.

1 LEAPS, ANOTHER FALLS TO DEATH IN LOOP DISTRICT

(Picture on back page.) Police last night were investigating circumstances surrounding the deaths of two men who lost their lives leaping or falling from tall buildings in the downtown section.

In one case, Alfred E. Carrier, 50 years old, 549 Arlington place, a silver engraver, leaped from a window of the fifteenth floor of the Mandel Brothers store, State and Madison streets. He was killed instantly.

Albert Hoffman, 38 years old, 5353 South Sawyer avenue, a truck pointer, was the other victim. Hoffman, in view of scores of shoppers, lost his footing while working upon a scaffolding erected against the fifth floor of the Illinois Bell Telephone building, 311 West Washington street, and fell, his body striking a canopy over the building entrance.

OXFORD AWARDS HIGH HONORS TO FRANK B. KELLOGG

OXFORD, England, Nov. 26.—Oxford university today conferred the honorary degree of doctor of civil law on Frank B. Kellogg, former secretary of state, who is now in England. In presenting Mr. Kellogg as former American ambassador at the court of St. James's the public orator, Dr. A. B. Poynton, spoke enthusiastically of his work on the Kellogg pact outlawing war.

Baseball Pool Split 5 Ways, Says Witness

New York, Nov. 26.—[Special.]—Revelations concerning the operations of the baseball pool in Albany which in its palmyest year brought in profits of more than $4,000,000 were made today in United States District court in the trial of James J. Otto for perjury before a grand jury, which investigated the pool. According to one witness the proceeds of the pool were split five ways, politicians and a political organization in Albany being the beneficiaries.

This testimony was given by William F. Buchanan, who said the money was divided in this manner: One share to Otto, one share to himself, one share each to Edward O'Connell and Daniel O'Connell, Democratic leaders of Albany. One share to a man of the name of Corning whose identity was not established in court.

The split was made after 2 1/2 per cent of the pool's profits were given to the political organization headed by the O'Connells, the witness said. He added that in 1927 the pool made more than $4,000,000 clear profit.

1 LEAPS, ANOTHER FALLS TO DEATH IN LOOP DISTRICT

(Picture on back page.) Police last night were investigating circumstances surrounding the deaths of two men who lost their lives leaping or falling from tall buildings in the downtown section.

In one case, Alfred E. Carrier, 50 years old, 549 Arlington place, a silver engraver, leaped from a window of the fifteenth floor of the Mandel Brothers store, State and Madison streets. He was killed instantly.

Albert Hoffman, 38 years old, 5353 South Sawyer avenue, a truck pointer, was the other victim. Hoffman, in view of scores of shoppers, lost his footing while working upon a scaffolding erected against the fifth floor of the Illinois Bell Telephone building, 311 West Washington street, and fell, his body striking a canopy over the building entrance.

OXFORD AWARDS HIGH HONORS TO FRANK B. KELLOGG

OXFORD, England, Nov. 26.—Oxford university today conferred the honorary degree of doctor of civil law on Frank B. Kellogg, former secretary of state, who is now in England. In presenting Mr. Kellogg as former American ambassador at the court of St. James's the public orator, Dr. A. B. Poynton, spoke enthusiastically of his work on the Kellogg pact outlawing war.

"The last six months has deepened the sense of the significance of the pact," he said. "Mr. Kellogg was the first to broadcast the message that war must be outlawed, and his message did not lack wings."

CAPONE LOSES ANOTHER FIGHT FOR FREEDOM

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 26.—[AP]—Al "Scarface" Capone, Chicago gangster, today lost another attempt to obtain his release from jail when the Pennsylvania Supreme court denied his application for an appeal to that body.

The same action was taken in the case of Frank Cline, Capone's bodyguard. Both are serving a year in the penitentiary on charges of carrying concealed weapons.

Attorneys for Capone and Cline have made several attempts to obtain freedom for their clients, and three weeks ago sought an appeal to the Supreme court from the decision of the Superior court refusing a writ of habeas corpus.

Court attaches are of the opinion that Capone and Cline now will have to complete their sentences, which began in May.

ONE STEP ACROSS BALKAN BORDER IS CERTAIN DEATH

Jugo-Slav Guns Constant
Menace to Bulgaria.

BY ROBERT SAGE.

[Chicago Tribune From Service.]
STRESIMNOVITZ, Bulgaria, Nov. 26.—It's a long, long way from Locarno to the nerve center of the uneasy Balkans—the western border of post-war Bulgaria, where Jugo-Slavian guns look down from the mountain heights on a despondent population of picturequely clad Bulgarian mountaineers and peasants who are irrevocably cut off from the major part of their relatives and property.

Carving a jagged line down the slopes of the hills, through the rocky farmlands and across primitive border villages, runs a mixture of ditch and a foot wide and six inches deep. This is the frontier, measured out to the fraction of an inch, as laid down by the treaty of Neuilly in 1919, when three sizeable patches were lopped off western Bulgaria and handed over to Jugo-Slavia. One may skirt the Bulgarian edge of this narrow line without mishap for as many miles as one wishes, but that means instant death from a Jugo-Slavian bullet, regardless of one's papers or nationality.

Guns Guard Border.

Commanding an unobstructed view of hundreds of square miles of Bulgarian territory is a chain of watch towers pitched at a distance of 600 feet apart on the crests of the border mountain range that now belongs to Jugo-Slavia. Between these elevated observation points are frequent posts of frontier guardmen armed with machine guns and, in some cases, with heavy artillery.

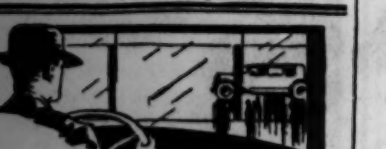

Although the two inland countries are separated by no barbed wire fence—nothing, in fact, but a mixture of ditch and an occasional whitewashed pyramidal marker—the Jugo-Slavian border patrol has established such a vast and vigilant watch system that it is practically impossible for a human being to put his foot across the line without receiving a bullet in his body instantaneously—as the graves of dozens of incautious Bulgarians mutely attest.

100,000 Bulgarians Bottled Up.

Between the old and the new borderlines of the Caribrod and Trn districts some 100,000 former Bulgarian subjects now remain bottled up on unproductive farms and in impoverished villages, forbidden to pass the old boundary mountains into Serbia proper or to cross the heavily guarded new border ditch into their native Bulgaria. To clear a 600 foot swath through the forests that still remain in some spots along the frontier the Jugo-Slavians daily recruit hundreds of these unassimilated subjects, men and women, who are forced to work without pay, doing menial labor designed to prevent their own escape. Under the Jugo-Slavian dictatorship these people are forbidden to speak Bulgarian or to read books or newspapers printed in the Bulgarian language. They are likewise strictly forbidden to communicate by letters or otherwise with their relatives in Bulgaria.

Heartbreaking Tale.

Almost any one in the Caribrod and Trn districts can relate heartbreaking tales of grief. In the decaying hamlet of Stresimnovitz, which is cut in half by the border line, a man from Sofia stood beside me with tears streaming down his face. A scant hundred yards beyond the uncrossable line stood the little schoolhouse where he had taught for years. A slight distance farther on, half hidden by a clump of trees, was the neat, whitewashed cottage where his parents, both over 80 years of age, lived. Since the day five years ago when he had succeeded in slipping past the Jugo-Slavian frontier guards he had neither seen nor heard from his parents, although he had come many times to the edge of the ditch to gaze helplessly at his old home and the scenes of his childhood. On two or three occasions he had crept along the border, before his compatriots had been forced to clear away the underbrush, and had thrown letters attached to rocks to the shepherds guarding their flocks just across the line for delivery to his parents.

MURRAY'S TERM OF 25 YEARS IS LIKELY TO STAND

Authorities Expect No
Executive Clemency.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26.—(Special.)—Executive clemency for James Murray, former Chicago politician now serving a 25 year sentence in Atlanta penitentiary for participation in the Roundout mail robbery five years ago, is only a remote possibility, officials in the office of the attorney general stated today.

Examination of the department of justice records revealed that Murray's attorneys applied for a commutation of his sentence last spring after he had returned to the government $385,000 worth of bonds, his share in the $2,000,000 loot, but that President Hoover denied the application on April 5, 1929. No new application has been filed since that time and so far as the department of justice is informed none is being prepared.

Convicted 5 Years Ago.
Murray was convicted in November, 1924, along with William J. Fahy, former postal inspector, and several other members of the bandit gang. Murray and Fahy, who were supposed to have received $385,000 and $14,000, respectively, went to Atlanta for 25 years each.

Recently it was revealed, presumably through a "grapevine" exposure on the part of Fahy, that Murray, more than a year ago turned over his share of the bonds to Grant B. Miller, late head of the United States postal inspectors in Washington, in the hope of receiving commutation of his sentence. Knowing that he would be eligible to parole when one-third of his sentence was completed, Murray applied for a commutation of his 25 year sentence to 15 years. This would make him eligible for release this month.

Correspondence Related to Fees.
President Hoover, however, did not see fit to approve the application and Murray is still in the penitentiary with 20 more years of his sentence to serve. During August there was some correspondence between Attorney General William Mitchell and George E. Q. Johnson, United States district attorney at Chicago, regarding fees to Murray's attorney for filing the previous application but the department of justice officials said they knew of no new effort to secure Murray's release.

Canada Game Sanctuary Shut to Conserve Musk Ox

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 26.—(P)—The Thelon game sanctuary east of Great Slave lake in the northwest territories, which contains the last known herd of musk ox on the Canadian mainland, has been closed. No person, either Indian or white man, will be permitted to enter this 15,000 mile preserve unless by special arrangement. The musk ox is exceedingly rare and action has been taken by order in council to conserve the herd of approximately 250 known to have their habitat in this area.

INEBRIETY PLEA FAILS TO UNTIE MARRIAGE KNOT

Pastor Says Bridegroom
Seemed to Be Sober.

Circuit Judge Lynch yesterday refused to grant Fred Stecker, 48 years old, 1933 Howe street, a structural iron foreman, an annulment of his marriage to Mrs. Margaret Larson, 39 year old widow, of 1263 Argyle street. The bill was dismissed for want of equity when the Rev. J. Russell Vaughan, assistant pastor of the Church of the Ascension [Episcopal], at 1133 North La Salle street, who performed the ceremony, refuted testimony that Stecker was in a drunken stupor during the wedding.

Stecker appeared before Judge Lynch Oct. 16 and charged that the Rev. Mr. Vaughan not only knew his condition at the time, but also invited him to return when he was sober so that the forms of the license could be filled properly. Stecker said he was married last July 30 after a drinking party at the home of a friend. During this party he met Mrs. Larson, but could not remember paying court to her, he said.

Bride Asked $200, He Says.
He awoke in his room the next day. The first he knew of the ceremony, he said, was when Mrs. Larson burst into his room waving a marriage certificate and proffering affectionate advances. When he repulsed her she offered to forget the incident for $200.

Feels Young Again Enjoys Hard Work

Millions of men and women all over the world take Kruschen Salts daily—not because they are really sick, mind you—but because they know the little daily dose of Kruschen keeps them always fit, energetic and free from fat, and also keeps the system free from over-acidity.

People who take one half teaspoon of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning won't have headaches, are always free from constipation, depression, dizziness, coated tongue and unpleasant breath.

They have no poisons in their system because the action of Kruschen Salts on the liver, kidneys and bowels causes perfect and regular elimination. If you want joyous health and glorious vigor—if you want to work hard and enjoy your work—if you want to keep Kruschen Salts every day—it isn't a question of whether or not you are sick, but whether or not you have any further use for slum-bag medicines—your bowels will be regular. Ask any dealer anywhere in America for an 85c bottle of Kruschen—4 vitalizing salts combined in one—your bottle lasts 4 weeks. Sold the world over. E. Griffiths Hughes, Inc., Rochester, N.Y.

according to his story. Later, he declared, he went to the assistant pastor and learned of the ceremony.

When the case first came up it was continued by Judge Lynch so that the Rev. Mr. Vaughan could be questioned.

"I remember the ceremony well," he said yesterday. "It was the only one I performed in the year. The man and woman came to the church with witnesses. He gave his name as Fred Stecker. He did not appear to be intoxicated and answered all questions put to him, clearly. In view of the recent developments I believe that he may have been under the influence of liquor, but it was not apparent to me."

Advised Court Action.

"He was able to sign the parish register. He returned several days later and told me that he was drunk at the time and was in a quandary because he was already married and had several children. I advised him to go to court."

After this evidence Judge Lynch declared that he did not believe Stecker's story. His order will make it impossible for Stecker to secure a divorce for two years, the statutory period provided for a plea of desertion. Stecker was not married previously.

NEXT CONGR TO RESOUND PROHIBITION

Record Wet and Battles Brew

[Chicago Tribune From Service.]
Washington, D. C., Nov. 26.—Prohibition, it appears today, will be a more serious issue than a mere debate issue in coming regular session of Congress.

Senator R. S. Copeland (T.) has announced he will introduce his bill to amend the act of 1919 to the effect of the act of 1919. Today Mrs. Florence (Step.) Call declared she would introduce a bill to amend the act of 1919 to the effect of the act of 1919.

Both houses, it is expected, will be busy with the act of 1919. The act of 1919 is expected to be introduced in the house of representatives.

A Blow to Bone Dry
The Dorian report was an appointment to the bone dry act of 1919.

Senator W. J. Harris (D) plans, it is known, to introduce a bill to amend the act of 1919 to the effect of the act of 1919.

Then, also provocative of action, is the pending bill of Senator Morris (R) to amend the act of 1919 to the effect of the act of 1919.

Mr. Kahn introduced his bill to amend the act of 1919 to the effect of the act of 1919.

"I am not seeking to put lawbreaker, nor his family," today, "however sorry I am the plight which families breakers often must face."

"But I do think that a common sense should expect the exercise common sense in the and the government should make amendments to the persons who are made the culture of officers to conduct as officers should."

WHERE ARE Y TEETOTALERS INSURANCE QU

Informal discussion at the yesterday of the Chicago Anti-Saloon League, which is the author of the 15th amendment to the constitution, was held at the Chicago Anti-Saloon League.

"It takes ten or fifteen policy holders to start a going right," said one of the speakers, "I doubt if they could find a policy holder in Indiana."

"They are assuming that life insurance rates are too high, which is not correct. A rate of proposition is not a rate of proposition. It has been found by insurance companies that social diseases are more devastating than intoxication. The consensus was that the plan was doomed to failure."

NEXT CONGRESS TO RESOUND WITH PROHIBITION DIN

Record Wet and Dry Battles Brewing.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Washington, D. C., Nov. 26.—(Special.)—Prohibition, it appears likely, will be a more serious, or at least a more debated issue in the forthcoming regular session of congress than ever before.

Senator R. S. Copeland (Dem., N. Y.) has announced he will insist upon consideration of his bill to pay $25,000 to the heirs of Jacob Hansen, the prominent Niagara Falls citizen who was killed by coast guard Volstead officers. Today Mrs. Florence Kahn (Dem., Cal.) declared she would demand action in the house on her proposed bill to similarly indemnify the dependents of all innocent victims of the trigger dry agents.

Both houses, it is expected, will see some squabbling over the report of the Prohibition Commission James M. Volstead enforcement has been improved the "quantity" has decreased in spite of the $750,000 additional cost at the last session for expansion of dry activities.

A Blow to Bone Dries.

The Duran report was a bitter disappointment to the bone dries, but Senator W. J. Harris (Dem., Ga.) says it is known, to renew his fight to secure additional appropriations of at least $25,000,000 for prohibition enforcement. Wets in both houses, on the other hand, will cite the report in support of their contention that even if 100 million dollars was appropriated Volsteadism could not be enforced.

Then, also provocative of oratory, if not action, is the pending proposal of Senator Morris Sheppard (Dem., Ia.) author of the 18th amendment, to make purchasers equally liable with sellers—a proposal which has split dry ranks in and out of congress.

Mrs. Kahn introduced her bill to pay $25,000 to the families or heirs of innocent victims of dry agents' bullets after the killing of Henry Virkula of International Falls, Minn., by customs border patrol agents last spring.

No Sympathy for Lawbreaker.

"I am not seeking to protect the lawbreaker, nor his family," she said today, "however sorry I may be for the plight which families of lawbreakers often must face."

"But I do think that a great government should expect its officers to exercise common sense in their duties, and the government should be ready to make amends to the families of those who are made destitute by the failure of officers to conduct themselves as officers should."

WHERE ARE YOUR TOTALERS? IS INSURANCE QUERY

Informal discussion at the luncheon yesterday of the Chicago Association of Life Insurance Underwriters centered on the announced plan of the Indiana Anti-Saloon league to organize a company that would insure its totalers.

"It takes ten or fifteen thousand policy holders to start a company going right," said one of the diners. "I doubt if they could find 1,500 totalers in Indiana."

"They are assuming that present insurance rates are too high," said another, "which is not correct. The loss dry proposition is not a new one. Ruben has been found by insurance companies that social diseases are far more devastating than intoxicants." The consensus was that the Indiana plan was doomed to failure.

WARREN E. WRIGHT IS NAMED TO STATE G. O. P. COMMITTEE

Warren E. Wright, chairman of the Morgan county Republican central committee, was elected yesterday a member of the party's state central committee, to replace Paul Samuelli, who resigned that post when he was appointed to the Illinois Supreme bench recently by Gov. Emmerson.

Mr. Wright was selected at a meeting of the state committee at the Hotel La Salle presided over by Chairman Perry B. McCullough. The new committee member will speak for the Twentieth congressional district, which, in addition to Morgan, includes Brown, Calhoun, Cass, Greene, Jersey, Mason, Menard, Pike, and Scott counties.

Committee member Wright's introduction to active politics came with his election as a precinct committeeman from Marysville, which was followed by his being twice selected as county chairman. He will be a candidate to succeed himself on the state body next spring.

CHICAGO HONORS WORLD CHAMPION POLISH HORSEMEN

Chicago yesterday feted the Polish army cavalrymen who as representatives of the Polish republic recently won the championship trophy in the international cavalry event at the New York horse show. The Polish horsemen were met at the railroad station by a committee headed by Anthony Czarnecki, collector of customs; City Prosecutor Frank Peska, Paul Drzymalski, Edward Prebis, Peter I. Rukowski, Dr. Leon J. Czaja, J. Kozubala, and Edward Scheffler.

The Polish cavalrymen were entertained at a noon luncheon at the Chicago Athletic association and then visited Fort Sheridan, where they met Brig. Gen. C. H. Conrad Jr., commandant, and put some of the post's horses through their paces. At the luncheon addresses were made by Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, commander of the sixth army corps area, and Anthony Czarnecki.

The Polish horsemen left the city last night after attending meetings at Polish Union hall, Milwaukee avenue and Augusta street, and Polish Alma Mater hall, 1643 Milwaukee avenue.

The visitors were Col. Rudolph Dresser, Lieut. Stephen Starnowski, Lieut. Casimir Czarnecki, Lieut. Ladislav Zgorzelecki, Lieut. W. Bogucki, and Sergt. Peter Marciniak.

WEST SIDE ALSO STARTS FIGHT FOR CONVENTION HALL

Business leaders of the west side have entered the lists as a contender against the south and north sides for the location of Chicago's proposed new convention hall, it was revealed through a statement issued yesterday by Charles W. Seabury, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce.

C. L. Rice, vice president of the Western Electric company, is spokesman for the west side.

"The west side, logically, is the location for the new hall," declared Mr. Rice. "All Chicago is proud of our great lake front developments, actually realized and conceived. But why make all this a one-sided development? Why not let the west side come in for a few great things too? The west side is outstripping every other section of Chicago in growth right now, and the west side is deserving of consideration."

4 DRUNKENNESS CASES EQUAL TO ONE FELONY

Michigan Man Accused of 16 Offenses.

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 26.—(Special.)—Habitual drunkards may be as severely punished as other minor felons under Michigan's criminal code, and if sufficient offenses are proved, may be given mandatory sentences of from 7½ to 15 years in state prison.

This was learned today when the case of Fred Steers, 55 years old, now in Jackson prison on a technical disorderly charge, was brought to the attention of Arthur Wood, commissioner of pardons and paroles, along with cases of nine other men against whom habitual criminal charges will be placed.

Convicted 16 Times.

Steers, it appears, has not been convicted of anything more serious than drunkenness or disorderly conduct. Misdemeanors of this sort, however, which, under the old statute governing cases of intoxication, are rated as felonies when they reach a fourth offense, have been recorded over a period of years against him. He had been convicted at least 16 times.

The convictions were registered in Battle Creek and Kalamazoo for the most part, but the prosecutor of Calhoun county, from which he was last sentenced, was not in possession of his full record at the time. Since then the identification division of the department of public safety has been checking up on him and has certified the full record to the parole office. The 16 accumulated drunk convictions thus become four minor felonies and entitle Steers to a mandatory term of from 7½ to 15 years.

Other Records Checked.

Whether or not he can be convicted on the charge, however, is believed questionable, although he must be paroled and returned to his home county for trial.

Records of all the convicts now serving time in state penitentiaries are being checked and scores of them are being reported for action under the habitual criminal law. Four major felonies, under the amended code, bring a mandatory life term, but special provision was made for minor offenders, including all offenses against the prohibition law, when the last legislature modified the code to prevent future "life for a pint" terms.

HORNBY TALKS BASEBALL AND OPERATION

Banks Bell Second to Pie Traynor.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Banks Hornby, the Cubs' second baseman, is a man who has ideas of his own and is not afraid to broadcast them. The Rajah came to town from St. Louis yesterday to furnish proof to the insurance folks that his right heel had recently been operated upon, and after providing the proof in various forms, he touched upon his favorite subject—baseball.

"Lester Bell is one of the best hitters in the game," said Hornby, "to show that he doesn't give up with a number of the experts. I don't mean he ranks about sixth in the list of major leaguers. I mean he is about second. I give Pie Traynor the edge. In 1925 I thought Bell was superior to the Pirate player."

This is sufficient to indicate that Hornby wasn't disappointed when the recently consummated the purchase of Bell from the Boston Braves.

Experts Bell to Drive in Runs.
"Bell will drive in a lot of runs this summer," Hornby continued. "He always could hit, and with him in the lineup our attack will be boosted over more territory. Last season we had hitting, but it was bunched in a few spots in the lineup. The one thing that was watched about Bell is his hitting. He is sensitive. You can't make him play by getting him mad. I have to encourage him. Most of all, he can do that thing."

Bell Host at Luncheon.
After being luncheon host to E. S. Bennett, the American League president, and the newspapermen, Hornby recently created White Sox manager, returned to his home at Indianapolis.

Bell has nothing new on his chest. He still cherishes a hope of a baseball trade or two will be consummated when the league holds its annual meeting in New York next month. He is going to concentrate on getting a second checker of consistency, and if the quest is successful, about fifty per cent of his trading worries will be lifted.

Business Manager Harry Grabner announced that plans are in the making for the Giants to play the Sox at Comiskey park prior to the opening of the 1930 season on April 15. Two games are proposed for the edification of the south side patrons. They will be played April 12 and 13.

Les Marriner Breaks Hand; Earns Draw with Hoffman

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Les Marriner of Chicago and George Hoffman of New York, former amateur champions, fought ten rounds to a draw in the windup of Promoter Jack Dempsey's boxing show at the Coliseum last night. The Chicago fighter weighed 134 pounds and his opponent, 124 pounds.

The attendance was a disappointment to Dempsey. There were only 3,500 in the building when the principals for the main event entered the ring. The receipts were $5,050, according to the boxing commission.

The decision in the windup was not unanimous and did not meet with the approval of the spectators. Some thought Marriner won, while others believed Hoffman was entitled to the verdict. Referee Phil Collins ruled in favor of Hoffman. Rube Metz, one of the judges, gave the decision to Marriner, and T. Leitert, the other judge, called it a draw.

Les Breaks Hand.

Marriner, who was a plucky football player at Illinois, has carried his gameness into the prize ring. In the second round he sustained a bad cut over his left eye and the blood flowed from the wound for the remainder of the fight. In the fifth round he broke his right hand and in the seventh stanza received a bruise on his left cheek bone.

Few if any of the spectators knew that Marriner's right hand, his best offensive weapon, was useless. Les fought the last half of the battle with one hand and held his own with the exception of the final round in which Hoffman had a decided advantage. Marriner scored heavily with straight lefts to the face and left uppercuts to the body.

The fight at first looked like a battle of left hands. Each counted with straight lefts to the face and followed with rights to the body when they went into close quarters. In the second session Marriner broke his hand as a result of a punch and slip. He was up before a count could be made. When the session was half over Hoffman shot a hard right cross to Marriner's left eye.

Marriner Wins Third.

Marriner scored heavily in the third as a result of straight lefts to the face. He made Hoffman miss repeatedly with right swings and hooks. Les had the best of the fourth round because of his successful execution with straight lefts and hooks. In the fifth round Marriner broke his hand once by hitting Hoffman on top of the head or on an elbow. After the fight Marriner was unable to explain how the injury occurred.

With one hand practically useless, Marriner fought back gamely in the remaining rounds.

Senor Uzcudun, Otto Von Porat Exchange Gibes

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Several light puffs of smoke yesterday emerged from the training camp of one Paulino Uzcudun, leading to the impression that the boys are preparing to steam up a bout between the Uzcudun-Greif fifth encounter passes into history at the Chicago Stadium Friday night.

While Friday's fight is the main business at hand at the current moment, Mr. Nate Lewis, the Stadium's civic matchmaker, is a gent who looks into the future, and announcements from his office gave rise to the suspicion that Uzcudun and Von Porat will fight at the Stadium's show on Dec. 27, providing, of course, that the Basque can whip Tuffy Griffith Friday night.

Mr. Lewis' literary department gave out a statement denouncing Von Porat and proving that the battle, if any, will be a grudge affair. We'd give you the statement just as it came to us, but it is written in what purports to be Basque-English dialect. We are not up on our Basque-English, so are afraid to take a chance. To us there seemed in the statement an assortment of Chinese, Swedish, Hebrew, Gaelic, Senegambian and Brooklyn Idioms, leading to the fear that Senor Uzcudun did not write the communication himself.

But anyhow, the Senor takes umbrage at the remark attributed to Von Porat that he, Otto, can "punch Paulino bowlegged."

He allows, in his quaint manner of expression, that he has had the pleasure of slapping down Otto for two nine counts and a seven count and that he will be delighted to do it again.

To support his claims of having punished Von Porat, the Basque carries three photographs in his boom pocket showing Otto in the act of taking a resin bath.

Sidney Strotz, business manager of the Stadium, said "that the hoop and stadium box office would be kept open tomorrow, Thanksgiving day."

VAN NICE WINS FIRST LETTER; TO LEAD CHICAGO

Elected 1930 Captain by Maroons.

Erret Van Nice, Maroon half back, who ran wild against Princeton, yesterday was elected to lead the University of Chicago football team next year.

Van Nice lives at 2334 East 70th street, and was graduated from the Hyde Park High school. He did not play football in high school and is said to be the first player developed entirely by Coach A. A. Starg to lead a Maroon team. He is a junior in the university and a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon.

Van Nice is 21 years old, six feet one inch tall and weighs 195. His weight and speed won for him his first letter in football this year.

SIMRALL MICHIGAN PILOT.
Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 26.—[Special.]—James (Ducky) Simrall, regular quarter back on the Michigan varsity for the last two seasons, was elected 1930 captain today. Announcement of his election was made before 300 students assembled at a banquet in the Michigan Union to honor the Wolverine gridder.

The new Michigan leader has been Maize and Blue safety man for two years and also handled the punting. He has a reputation for reliability, and as Coach Kipke says, "Simrall is there in the pinches."

Simrall, 19 years old, is one of the youngest men ever to lead a Wolverine varsity. He is about 5 feet 10 inches tall and has an unruly light blonde that of hair. His home is Lexington, Ky.

VINCENT LEADS YALE.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 26.—[Special.]—Francis Thomas (Fay) Vincent, right tackle, tonight was chosen captain of the 1930 Yale varsity football eleven. Kempton Dunn and Charley Sneed, prominent players, also had been mentioned in connection with the captaincy.

Berlioz Heavyweight Wins Victory Over Mike M'Tigue

West Palm Beach, Fla., Nov. 26.—[U. P.]—Jeff Carroll, Biliot, Miss., heavyweight, won a ten round decision here tonight over Mike M'Tigue, 175, twice holder of the world's light heavyweight title. Carroll's youth and weight showed to advantage, though some believed the veteran should have had at least a draw.

Divodi Knocks Out Roth in 2d Round at New York

New York, Nov. 26.—[U. P.]—Andy Divodi knocked out Marty Roth in the third round of a six round main bout at the Broadway arena in Brooklyn tonight. Divodi weighed 144½ and Roth 144.

HAWKEYES KEEP REINSTATEMENT PLANS SECRET

Bresnahan Denies He'll Resign.

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 26.—[U. P.]—University of Iowa athletic officials concluded a long meeting tonight with no announcement as to the course of action they will take to gain reinstatement into the Western conference at the conference meeting in Chicago Dec. 6 and 7.

A report that George T. Bresnahan would resign as director of intercollegiate athletics brought forth a heated denial from Bresnahan, who elaborated his denial with a statement that he had never officially accepted the position and therefore could not resign from it.

The members of the board of control of athletics said that the plans they made tonight would not be made public until they were presented to the Western conference faculty committee through C. C. Williams, chairman of the board, and Iowa's faculty committee representatives.

Bresnahan, a central figure in the charges of recruiting athletes that followed Iowa's ouster from the conference last May, refused to discuss how he figured in the campaign to gain reinstatement. Bresnahan also is head track coach at the university.

BIG TEN GOES SHOPPING

When western conference football coaches meet in Chicago on Dec. 6 and 7, efforts will be made by many outside universities and colleges to schedule games with members of the Big Ten. Coaches and athletic directors from the east, south, and Missouri valley section will be here in quest of suggestions to be played at home or on foreign gridirons.

Some of the Big Ten football teachers also are angling for attractive coaches on home fields. Dick Hanley, coach at Northwestern, is now in the east and it is possible he may reach an agreement for home and home contests with Navy and Columbia. Either would be an attraction in the Dyche stadium and the Purple would be a magnet for a large gathering in the east.

Gophers Looking for Game.
Princeton will come west to meet Chicago in one of the important inter-sectional games and Illinois will go into the east to play Army in another battle of inter-sectional importance. There is a possibility that Minnesota may slate one of the strong eleven in the Pacific coast conference in the future.

Purdue, the 1929 conference champion, may go gunning for bigger game, while Michigan has a return engagement to fill with Harvard at Lexington.

Illini Veterans Decline to Name Captain for 1930

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 26.—[Special.]—The University of Illinois campus today was surprised by the refusal of the varsity football team to elect a captain for 1930. Out of 13 letter men entitled to vote for a leader, only three voted for a captain, the other fifteen writing "no captain" on their ballots. The action of the squad leaves the selection of a field captain to the coaching staff.

Belief that the responsibility of leadership often makes it impossible for the captain to play a good game was the reason for the step, veteran players indicated today.

It is not believed that all future squads will follow the precedent. The players who were nominated for captain were Dale Roush, guard, Otto Rully, tackle, and Frank Lanum, full back. All are two year players.

BOOTS 'EM FOR RAMBLERS

Les Molloy, Loyola university back, is expected to star in the Ramblers' game against North Dakota at Loyola field Saturday. He has been one of the leaders in the Loyola attack, excelling in punting and passing.

Wherein Dr. Pegler Diagnoses New Malady—Football Sway

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
New York, Nov. 26.—It is alarming to note the appearance of a peculiar mental disturbance among the football coaches, the old grads and football officials generally corresponding to the state of mind known as punch drunkness which affects the reason and also the equilibrium of prize fight managers and experts who have put in considerable time watching the boxers.

This is familiar enough, if not more so, among the devotees of the ennobling science and one sees the victims sparring with phantom opponents and teetering on their heels which are round, not flat, in the lobbies of the prizefight arenas on fight nights.

Mr. Leo P. Flynn states that the only cure consists of diligent application to hard work but of course that would be a heroic measure and most of the victims would prefer to go on teetering.

Stadium Reduces Teetering.
However, I have noticed that the architect who devised the Chicago Stadium hit upon an ingenious device to minimize the teetering in the lobby of the amphitheatre. He pitched the lobby floor on a rather sharp grade, sloping downward to the street level. When the boys gather in the lobby of the Chicago Stadium and start rocking on their heels, they soon find that they have rocked themselves clear out of the building onto the sidewalks.

These unfortunates are oblivious to most things, but they are very sensitive to the open air of the sidewalks on cold winter evenings, so after a few experiences with the law of gravity in this lobby, most of the Chicago round heels gave up the struggle. Nowadays they do not attempt to teeter but go straight to their seats, although out-of-town round heels passing through Chicago may still be seen teetering downhill toward the exits on fight nights.

This year the same malady in slightly different form has made considerable headway among the coaches, life-long sophomores and what not who congregate in hotel suites and lobbies and in drawing rooms on the trains during the week-ends. They do not exactly teeter. They stand flat on their feet and sway in a curious, rest-leas motion something like that of a lion in a zoo. It is more of a weaving than a rocking. The lions probably get that way from looking at the faces that lions must look at day after day, but these football addicts probably get that way from watching football games and listening to one another.

They'll Sway All Night.
At any rate, if one happens to have a drawing room on a train returning from Boston, for instance, one must lock the door and turn out the lights or these people will come in and sway all night. As a rule they catch forward passes. They catch all the famous forward passes ever caught. In the lobby of the hotel in Danville, Ill., at three o'clock on the morning before the Army-Illinois game at Champaign, three of them stood swaying, catching forward passes, and numbing excitedly about Lloyd of the Navy and Ellis of Yale among others in advanced and hopeless cases the patients crouch and demonstrate how the great centers and other linemen planned, but always with that swaying motion.

Last Saturday evening at 9 o'clock six of them were standing in the crowded lobby of the Copley-Plaza hotel in Boston, weaving gently and catching forward passes. At half past eleven when the normal people get ready to leave for the New York train those six were still at the same spot swaying in unison and reaching out into the air for all the passes thrown in the game between Harvard and Yale that afternoon. They continued to sway and catch passes until the train had passed Bridgeport, when the players came in and said, "Boss, would it be all right to take down these

DEMAND SETS NEW RECORD FOR NEW YORK

Army Is Last Hurdle in Title Race.

Phelan Favors Game

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 26.—[Special.]—As far as he is concerned, Purdue university is willing to send its football team to the Pacific coast if the Western conference will dispense with its rule against post-season games. It was announced this evening by Coach James Phelan. Phelan believes his Purdue Western conference champions could defeat any Pacific coast team this year.

West Point, N. Y., Nov. 26.—[U. P.]—The Army football team as it goes about its preparations for the game with Notre Dame, in the Yankee stadium Saturday, has at least one thing in common with its famous rivals. Notre Dame is undefeated and unafraid. Army is only unafraid. It has been defeated by Yale and Illinois and tied by Harvard.

New York has never seen anything like the demand for admissions to the big game. There are seats for only 70,000, but at least 300,000 applications have been made for tickets. If the Polo grounds could be brought over from Harlem and laid up alongside the stands of the Yankee stadium, it wouldn't make much difference. Not half the people who want to see the game could be accommodated, even then.

Speculators are scouting New York. One is reported to have said he would have no trouble selling 100 tickets for $100 each. The only trouble is getting the tickets notwithstanding the big prices his runners are offering.

Same Old Story.

At the Hotel McAlpin, where the Notre Dame association is making arrangements for the alumni banquet after the game, the mention of tickets sends the boys and girls into shrieks of laughter. They haven't seen a ticket for two weeks. The last possible ticket was poked up fully two weeks ago—and you had to be somebody to get one even that far back.

The corps of cadets, the real West Point, likes its football straight through the season but the Notre Dame game is different. For the boys who wear the gray but not the gold of the football uniforms, it will be the last game of the season. Their standard bearers will invade the west to play Stanford but in that December game the team will have only the moral support of the boys left behind. In New York Saturday the support will be vocal.

Cadets Look to N. D. Game.

No one can tell a cadet that "the army hasn't a chance" to stop Notre Dame. Military regulations do not permit interviews or statements from students but look speak loudly through words at the mere suggestion that Army's chances is "only outside."

Coach Bliff Jones does not discriminate between the two games remaining on the Army schedule. "We take them as they come, we have to," he said when asked if he and his team would rather win from Notre Dame in November than Stanford in December.

The cadets, too, take them as they come but beyond question for the rank and file at West Point, the excited and the humble, the big game of the season is just around the corner.

Capt. Jones has faith in the last army team he will coach, although he does not disguise the fact that it still has something to learn about football. "Natural, we are hopeful," said Big Bliff, "but we know the caliber of our opposition and one would be foolish to show any lack of respect for Notre Dame."

N. D. Is Favorite to Win.

"Rockne has a far better team than he had last year. We have had our disappointments this season but winning this game would chase us to forget a lot of them. We have improved as we have gone along and as the whole we are in good shape."

The coach was reminded that last year his team was the favorite and lost. This time Notre Dame is regarded as an odds on choice. "We would just as soon have it that way," commented the coach.

Capt. Jones is one of the minor casualties. He has a crick in his neck, as an aftermath of a squash match, but it will cause him no annoyance in the game, as he has no plans to touch his head, anyway. All his interest will be in front of him.

The team will go to New York Friday, but will only do light work at Travers Island. No visit will be made to the Yankee stadium until Saturday. "We know the stadium very well," said the coach.

The Army starting lineup remained in abeyance today as to two positions.

SECURITIES OF
U. S. WILL GO TO
HIGHEST BIDDERUtilities Announce
Buying Programs.

BY O. A. MATHER.

The United States government here today will sell its securities to the highest bidder. And instead of offering them at a discount to the market, as has been the case since last June, they will be sold at a discount to be fixed by the bidders.

This radical change in the system of government financing was announced by Secretary Mellon last night and will become effective with the treasury's quarterly financing program about the middle of next month.

The new plan was approved by congress last June. While it is a departure in American public finance, it has been practiced in England and other European countries.

In effect, the interest which the government will pay will be fixed by competition among bidders for the securities. These will simply obligate the treasury to pay a definite amount at a future date to whoever then holds the securities. The amount of discount will be stated on each of the bills and will be considered as interest for purposes.

Will Select Best Bids.
The bills will be issued in denominations of $1,000 and $10,000 and $100,000 and will be exempt from all taxes except estate and inheritance taxes. The secretary of the treasury will select the best bids and may grant any or all of the issue to the highest bidder. Or he may prorata the issue among bidders offering the same price. However, he also may reject all or bids.

Interest rates that the government has paid heretofore have been largely governed by the ability of the secretary of the treasury to judge conditions in the money market. While Secretary Mellon has been adept in floating treasury securities periodically at close to the bottom rates at the time, it is believed the new competitive system will further decrease the cost of government financing.

The December offering of treasury obligations is expected to total around $80,000,000 and in addition the government will receive about $400,000,000 from the final installment of 1929 income tax payments, which are due on Dec. 15. Maturity of two issues of treasury certificates will require a disbursement of about $750,000,000.

The balance of receipts, plus future ordinary revenues, will meet the government's financial needs until next March, when more income taxes will be available and further financing will be undertaken.

The flood of millions of dollars for proposed improvement work next year was augmented yesterday. The Standard Gas and Electric company plans to invest nearly $44,000,000 in new construction, additions and extensions to its system, according to President John J. O'Brien. He emphasized that plans will not be curtailed because of recent stock market disturbances.

Projects now under way represent the largest improvements in the company's history.

Other Expenditures.
The Commonwealth and Southern corporation, another big public utility system, plans an expenditure ranging between $75,000,000 and $80,000,000.

Commodity Inflation Seen
Checked by Rapid Turnover

BY SCRUTATOR.

It has been a matter of common remark, and in some circles of mild astonishment, that inflation in the United States over a period of several years could be confined to the stock markets alone; that there had been no comparable increase in commodity prices.

As a consequence there is not now any necessity for a drastic squeezing of water out of the prices of goods as it was squeezed from stocks that were too high.

A layman's explanation of this phenomenon comes in a letter from a gentleman in Flint, Mich. Discussing the price levels of stocks and commodities, he writes:

"There was no increase in the volume of money in the United States, rather a decrease; therefore there would be no increase in commodity prices. The upward swing of the price levels of stocks was a result of the extension of credit for the sole purpose of buying stocks, and naturally stocks went up."

I feel that if the entire nation had stumbled on the Board of Trade in wheat and had borrowed all they could on the different collateral they could have submitted to the banks, the price of wheat would have soared just as the prices of stocks have."

Profits from Experience.
Doubtless it would. Perhaps the reason why the inflation was confined to stocks lay in the conservatism of the American business man, who had been given a severe lesson in 1921 and 1922. How that period differed from the present one was discussed a few days ago by George E. Roberts, vice president of the National City bank of New York.

Paper currency, he explained, is used for small transactions only. Bank credits care for a far greater amount. The banking system, based on gold, is finally limited in the amount of its credits by the gold supply. This gold supply, in the form of bank reserves, is concentrated with the federal reserve system.

On the average, the governor of the Federal reserve board has stated, $7.50 in gold in reserve will support $100 of new credit.

During the war, and after it for two years, the allied powers sent huge sums of gold to this country. Because there had been a practically unlimited demand for materials and for labor and because of the huge gold supply and an unlimited amount of credit, there arose a situation in which manufacturers could get labor and materials only by taking them away from competitors.

According to Mr. Roberts this also happens when purchasing power, whether it be gold, currency, or bank credit, is issued in excess of the amount which a country can absorb without rising prices.

The federal reserve and the entire banking system had expanded to the utmost limit and a great deflation in all lines was necessary to ease it.

Then, after a lull, gold began pouring back into the United States in 1922 and continued to do so until the fall of 1927. In five years $800,000,000 of the standard metal was added to the American stock and the loans of the federal reserve member banks grew at the rate of 10 to 1, or by eight billions.

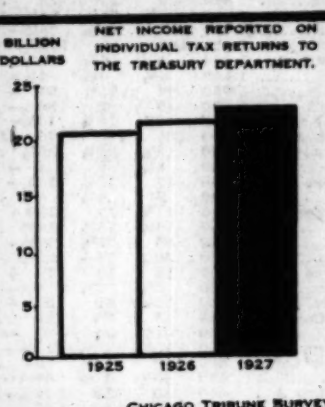

The bankers and economists of Europe, said Mr. Roberts, "confidently predicted credit inflation and price inflation in the United States. Some of them actually advocated as a policy the dumping of gold in the United States for the purpose of causing a general rise of commodity prices here, which, they argued, would relieve the industrial depression in Europe and in the end send back all the gold thus employed and more with it."

Lack Inclination.
They were disappointed, he related, because American business men had no inclination to increase their stocks or inventories. Had they been speculatively inclined with their goods, as everybody was seemingly speculatively inclined toward stocks and bonds, another 1921 might have been in sight.

There was no demand for the great volume of credit in business and money became cheap. In the year 1924 the average renewal rate for call loans on stock exchange collateral was 2-1/2 per cent. The first impetus to the stock market came with the realization that good dividend paying stocks could be bought and held with money that cost less than the dividends.

This movement became the great bull market in which any rate of interest seemed to be regarded as fair is a matter of history; likewise that the market largely got out of banking control. The point to be made here is that business applied itself to making dividends on quick turnover. That it succeeded is evidenced by the fact that for seven consecutive years each month of each year exceeded the same month in the previous year in the amount of dividends paid out.

Possibly the stock markets were never so completely divorced from actual business as in 1928 and early 1929.

FROM CENTRAL TRUST;
SUCCESSOR IS NAMED

Announcement of the resignation of James G. Alexander as executive vice president of the Central Trust Company of Illinois and as president of the Central-Indiana Securities corporation, the bank's investment subsidiaries, was made last night following a meeting of the bank's directors.

Philip R. Clarke was chosen to succeed Mr. Alexander as president of the two subsidiaries and was made first vice president of the bank. He has been a director in the bank and the affiliated companies since last June, when the Federal Securities corporation, of which he was president, was acquired by the Central-Indiana company.

The withdrawal of Mr. Alexander from the Central Trust company and its subsidiaries came as a surprise to La Salle street. He had been an official of the bank for a number of years and the active management of the institution has rested with him and Joseph E. Otis, president, during the last five years. During this time Gen. Charles G. Dawes, chairman, has been occupied with the vice presidency and as ambassador to England.

Mr. Otis explained that the resignation was "just a matter of internal policy and administration."

"I don't care to comment on my resignation," Mr. Alexander said last night when reached at his home, 1230 North Waukegan street, Lake Forest. He added that he has no immediate plans for the future.

Mr. Clarke, who succeeds Mr. Alexander, is a native Chicagoan. He was born in Hinsdale and still resides there. He is president of the Hinsdale State bank and of the board of education. His entire business career has been in the financial field.

He organized the firm of Clarke & Co. in 1912. During the war he served as vice chairman of the Chicago Liberty loan committee.

Harry B. Hurd was elected a director of the Central Trust.

Finds Industrial Activity
Higher in Oct. Than Year Ago

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26.—(AP)—Industrial activity in October continued at a higher level than for the same month last year, the federal reserve board reported today in a summary of business conditions.

Industrial production declined, however, as compared with September and there was a like decrease in factory employment. Distribution of commodities was sustained during the month, the board said.

Bank Credit Increases.
"Bank credit outstanding increased rapidly in the latter part of October, when security prices declined abruptly and there was a large liquidation of brokers' loans by nonbanking lenders," the summary said. "In the first three weeks of November, further liquidation of brokers' loans was reflected in reduction of security loans of member banks."

Production in the basic industries, which had declined for several months from the high level reached in midsummer, showed a further reduction in October. The decline in production reflected chiefly decreases in output of steel and automobiles. Daily average output of shoes, leather, and flour also declined.

Preliminary reports for the first half of November indicate further reduction in output of steel and automobiles and a decrease in cotton textile.

The board reported that the total output of minerals showed little change, production of coal increased, and copper output was somewhat larger, while petroleum production declined slightly in October and was further curtailed in November.

General Price Levels.
Volume of building construction showed little change between September and October, but declined in the early part of November.

The general level of prices, the board continued, showed little change in the first three weeks of October, but declined considerably in the last week of the month. During the first three weeks of November prices of most commodities recovered from their lowest level.

Reserve bank credit, the board said, after increasing by $310,000,000 in the last week in October, declined by $120,000,000 in the next three weeks. On Nov. 20 discounts for member banks were about $100,000,000 larger than four weeks earlier and holdings of United States securities were $190,000,000 larger.

Report Merger Plans of Standard Oil Co. of N. Y.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 26.—The Standard Oil Company of New York plans to enlarge its marketing organization through merger of the White Eagle Oil and Refining company with the Magnolia Petroleum corporation, a company subsidiary, dispatches from Tulsa, Okla., today indicated. It is believed the merger will be consummated on a share exchange basis through which the stockholders of the White Eagle Oil and Refining company will finally receive 8 1/2 shares of Standard Oil of New York stock for each 10 shares of White Eagle.

Oct. Operating Income of Ill. Central Is $3,443,065
Net railway operating income of the Illinois Central system for the month of October was $3,443,065, a decrease of $581,708 from the earnings of October, 1928. Revenues showed an advance of only $43,960, to $17,498,824.

For the first ten months of 1929 the Illinois Central net income totaled $23,395,911, an increase of $48,461 over the same period of last year. Railway operating revenues for the ten months were $155,577,703, an increase of $3,259,330.

New York, Nov. 26.—For the first time in months the rhythm of the stock exchange's usually busy ticker was broken by lengthy intervals of silence as trading ebbed to new stages of inactivity today.

Dealings fell off to 2,626,100 shares, the lowest total for a full five hour session since the dog days of last summer. What there was to the market was a professional affair.

Money was easy again, with the official demand rate holding at 4 1/2 per cent, the renewal figure, and accommodations to be had on the outside for the asking at 3 1/4 per cent or better. Time money rates were more inviting, 60 day loans being offered at 1/2 per cent, the lowest in eighteen months.

The Investment Point of View

THERE are two entirely separate points of view in purchasing securities:—

First—the investment point of view, which places primary emphasis on income return and security of principal over a period of years;

Second—the speculative point of view, which subordinates other considerations to the desire for quick enhancement in value.

The investor has the long-term viewpoint; the speculator strives for a short cut to profits.

Many people recently have suffered loss because of the great emphasis on the speculative point of view. Each point of view has its place, but it should be remembered that speculative commitments, in almost every case, should only be made after proper attention has been given to safety of principal and stability of income.

The distinction between investment and speculation is not necessarily the same as that between bonds and stocks. While sound bonds are traditionally the principal medium for conservative investors, there are many cases in which stocks may properly be purchased for long-term investment.

To those who are considering the placement of funds from the investment point of view, this company offers its services. We believe that a large number of sound investment securities are now available at prices which are especially attractive to the farsighted investor.

AUTOMOTIVES EASE IN CHICAGO STOCK TRADING

Volume Slumps in Quiet
Market Session.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Traders on the Chicago Stock Exchange yesterdays and today were in a quiet mood, the market has experienced in several weeks. The hectic bustle of the bull market days has been supplanted by calm and orderly trading in which no one gets particularly excited.

Sales approximated 260,000 shares. Prices were soft, every one apparently holding off until after the three day holiday before getting further into the market. Others were selling to get out before the close.

Automotive shares were lower almost without exception. Auburn declined with a drop of 15 points, Borg-Warner, Bendix, Nobilite Spark, Pines Winterton, and the Houdaille A and B issues chalked up losses ranging from 1 to 3 points.

Activity in General List.

The general list fared little better, although Swift International and Vortex Manufacturing registered gains of 3 1/2 and 2 1/2 respectively. Vortex directors placed the stock of the company on a $2 annual basis by the declaration of a quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share on the common stock. The regular quarterly payment of 6 1/2 cents on the class A shares was also voted. P. T. Potts, president, stated that the outlook of the company for 1930 was favorable. Illinois Brick was fractionally higher, following the declaration of four regular quarterly dividends for the coming year.

Beatrice Creamery fell 4 1/2 points to close at $1 on a small turnover. Bancroft, Kentucky and Kalamazoo, Stove suffered small losses. Lincoln Printing closed up 1 1/2. Washington Flexner, president, stated that net earnings for the ten months' period were $450,771.56 after all charges. This increase of 17 per cent over earnings for the same period last year. Sales for the same period ran 22 per cent ahead of 1928, Mr. Flexner said.

Stockline Earnings.

Stockline Furniture corporation in the ten months ended Oct. 31 showed net earnings of $181,067, the company reported.

The investment trust issues shared in the general weakness of the market. Corporation Securities dropped part of the gain it made the previous day and closed at 6 1/2. Insull Utility declined in Middle West Utilities and Central and South West. Middle West declined 2 1/4 on a turnover of over 45,000 shares.

The Stocks You Own

... what action should you take?

One of the most immediate problems nearly every investor now has, is—"What should I do about the stocks I am holding?" In some cases selling a part of the securities that formerly made up a balanced program has resulted in a decidedly unbalanced position now. In others, stocks not yet entirely deflated are still being held. In still others, investors are wondering whether to sell certain stocks now, when at their present prices they should beyond all doubt be retained.

The big thing to accomplish now is—straighten out your current position. Clean house of the undesirable. Balance your list. Decide what purchases to make.

This is not easy, because at a time like this some stocks will advance strongly. Yet, it is essential. Do not fail to consult the best authorities. This is a time when the only advice you want to follow is the best advice.

Deep Breathing Helps to Banish the Bay Window

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Women used to complain about the bay window in the chestless era that could be numbered among the go-withouts were not for the thickness of their stomachs and diaphragms. In the now forgotten era they are going to do a good deal more complaining about being puffy, puffy diaphragms. The new corsets do not extend to the bust line, nor have they the old steel framing to keep that particularly bulky part of the anatomy flattened down. There are just countless numbers of women with excellently proportioned chests, arms, legs, but who bear a not slight resemblance in their full silhouette to a fat stomach, skinny legged little brownie. They look disproportionate in spite of the neatness of limb and chest.

Faulty breathing is one of the outstanding reasons for the swollen diaphragm. To prove herself guilty one has only to take a deep breath to realize how shallow she has been heretofore about her breathing. It is probably a habit of such long standing that one can't remember when it began. Maybe it started away back in girlhood days after you stopped playing tomboy.

Anyway, it does not matter now about the who or the how. Deep breathing will have to be taken up again to check these bulging propensities. And another strong aid to a flatter silhouette is training the abdomen to stay back. Hold the abdomen in and up. Just try it once and see what it does to the diaphragm. Think of this forty times a day, if necessary, and every time give it the pull in and up.

When you have done it often enough you'll begin to understand, too, what good posture means toward keeping the diaphragm flattened. In fact, so much of good posture comes out of that order to hold the abdomen in and up that it isn't necessary to add anything, about chest up and back straight. They automatically assume the proper position with control over the abdominal muscles.

Virginia Wilson, Chas. Dennehy Engaged to Wed

BY THALIA

All the new frocks that will be worn at the bachelors and bachelorettes annual supper-dance tonight won't, I'll wager, excite as much attentive interest as the indicative of Miss Virginia Wilson who will be wearing on her left hand fourth finger.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Wilson of Lake Forest authorize me to announce this morning her engagement to Charles Dennehy, one of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Dennehy's sons and a member of the family of the bachelors and bachelorettes annual supper-dance will be in for a stage of felicitations at the party this evening.

Miss Wilson's golfing achievements are too numerous to chronicle, and being rather in the province of the sports department. She has won the Chicago Collet, the national amateur woman champion in 1927 but was defeated in the semi-finals, and has won a cup to testify to the extent of her prowess. She made her debut in 1928, having attended Saratoga college in South Carolina.

She is a fine horsewoman as well, and is also interested in art, particularly sculpture. No date has been announced for her marriage to Mr. Dennehy, who is the fourth of the Dennehy clan to marry. His brother, Thomas C. Jr. was married to Marion Warner several years ago, his sister, the former Virginia Dennehy, was married to Charles F. Clarke by Captain Mundelein at the latter's residence about 2 1/2 years ago, and Mrs. Harriet Denham also is a sister. The Dennehy's sold their residence at 1849 Astor street last year, and their only permanent address is that of their California place in Pasadena.

And there is another interesting engagement just revealed. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fountain of Southdale, N. Y. announce the engagement of their daughter, Audrey, to Edward Clark Porter, son of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Porter of Hubbard Woods. Miss Fountain is a graduate of Bryn Mawr, and Mr. Porter of the University of Wisconsin. No wedding plans are announced.

The adaptability of the Arts club lounge to the requirements of a lecture hall was tested yesterday morning for Bertrand Russell's talk on Literary Standards and Social Psychology. Several hundred of the town's fashionable intelligentsia were squeezed, 30 on each pair of chairs, and there were several standing in the halls.

Following Mr. Russell's lecture, Miss Alice Roulier gave a luncheon for him, and the other luncheon parties were so numerous that tables and chairs were never did get a seat. Miss Harriet Denham, Mrs. Shreve Badger, Mrs. J. Paul Velling, Mrs. James A. Field, Arthur Meeker Jr., Miss Katherine Russell, Mrs. David Peck, Mrs. Samuel Binkler, Mrs. Walter Borden, Miss Eleanor Holden, Mr. and Mrs. George Northrop, Frances McFadden, Mrs. Marythe Shereshe, Miss Agnes Foreman, Mrs. Edward R. Litsinger, Miss Elvina Litsinger, Mrs. Scott Durand, and Mrs. William A. Nitz.

The bachelors and bachelorettes party, to be at the Congress golf ballroom, is one of the great parties of the winter's affairs. The John Stuart Cooney Jr. are to give one of the largest of the parties before hand, and a dinner-dance to take place at the new Tower room of the Drake hotel. The Russell family are to give another dinner, Miss Edith Falkenstank and another, and there will be others besides.

Another large function this evening is the Arden House annual benefit ball at the Palmer house ballroom. Mrs. Herbert S. Nock is chairman of the Chicago committee. Other members include Mrs. Philip Dunham, Mrs. Mary Louise Schiffmann, Mrs. E. F. Burch Jr., and Mrs. Richard Gambrell Jr. A group of the debutantes are to serve as mannequins in a fashion review, and there are other entertainment features offered.

Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Hinckley of 299 Lake Shore drive are back in town after having spent the summer and fall in the south. They plan to remain here until early January.

Mrs. John D. C. Towne, who has been traveling for several months in Europe and the east, has returned and will reside at the Ambassador hotel for the rest of the season.

Look Lovely Tonight
Sallow, Dull Skin made Lovely
Creams, Powders, Face Creams
Stays oily skin, removes blackheads

The newest discovery in beauty culture is that creamed magnesia beautifies the skin instantly, in the same easy way that milk of magnesia purifies the stomach. This is because skin impurities are acid. Doctors treat acid inside the body with milk of magnesia. And now, dermatologists are getting amazing results in banishing complexion faults with creamed magnesia. All you do is anoint your skin with it, massage and rinse with water. It's as simple as washing your face. It reduces enlarged pores to the finest, smoothest texture. Being astringent, it drives away the tell-tale signs of age. It rejuvenates the skin so quickly that any woman can look lovely tonight, years younger.

And because it is so mild, it certainly is a blessing for fine, sensitive skins that soap so easily irritates and coarsens. It removes make-up and extracts impurities deep-set in the pores better than soap or cold cream. It changes dull, sallow skin to radiant clearness and fades freckles, blemishes, and a host of other skin troubles. It's the only skin treatment that's so simple and so effective.

DENTON'S CREAMED
Facial Magnesia
NOTE: Do not hesitate to try this marvelous skin treatment at once. Thousands of delighted women have written they could not believe anything so simple could be so wonderful. But they were convinced when they saw so many friends suddenly get lovely complexions.

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER—The Man of the Hour

Show of Austrian Art Reveals Skill of Trained Craftsman

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

A most fascinating exhibit of Viennese handicrafts has just opened. One-half of the exhibit is at the Art Institute and the other in the Kroc galleries. Miss Marianne Willisch is in charge. She is from Vienna and is the person really responsible for this opportunity of ours to see what the Austrian Werkbund members are doing now.

There are four divisions of the exhibit: metal work, enamels, textiles, and pottery. Every member of the Werkbund is a trained artist and has passed a strict jury to earn his membership. The exhibit illustrates that there is no careless work, nothing that could be bettered. The various articles are typical of contemporary art and are modern in character. Color, rhythm, and charm have been sought and found. Each material expresses itself.

The Werkbund ideal is to express modern thought and to allow every inanimate thing with which its members work to retain its own identity. Iron does not look like wood; silk is not disguised as paper. A bureau set in enamel is one of the loveliest contributions to illustrate the Viennese theory of grace, charm, and color in objects of everyday use. Dishes illustrate their powers in design. Dignity and simplicity and gorgeous color are emphasized again and again.

The exhibition is a splendid lesson in the genius of hand labor. Everything is one of its kind. There is no factory product of it. Each perfect and beautiful piece, be it pottery or a hammered silver, batik, jewelry, or a bonnet dish, is the expression of one man's talent and skill. Many of these artists are the graduates of the great arts and crafts school in Vienna. It is part of the mission of this exhibit to arouse sympathy with the fineness of the training offered and induce a desire for exchange scholarships. The Werkbund also wants to contrive meeting places in Vienna for foreign art enthusiasts or students where they can easily be shown what they want to see.

Thanksgiving Vegetables.

They had them all, our grandmothers did, all the vegetables in the cellar stores, on the Thanksgiving table. The turnip was undoubtedly mashed, and was the sweet and good rutabaga, probably because this variety was the most useful of its kind, and loved because when scraped up with a knife the turnip was cool and delicious and a children's favorite. Little sweetmeats for the children. Little sugar in turnip is easily cooked out, therefore I believe the following is the best way to prepare it: Wash, peel, slice, and cut the medium sized into blocks. Parboil cover these with water and then cook them gently. When tender season with salt, pepper, and butter without mashing, which is English style, or for the old Thanksgiving style mash with butter and a little salt and pepper. Taste the turnip and if you think it would be more acceptable if just a grain sweeter add one-half teaspoon of sugar to a pint of the mashed vegetable.

Bolled onions are excellent in a menu heavy with meat, as the Thanksgiving dinner is, if following an ancient custom, both turkey and chicken pie are served. Save labor by rubbing off all the dry skin from the onions you can before dropping them in cold water. Cut off the tops and the bottoms, or the latter may be made immaculately clean and be left to drop out after the cooking, or gently pressed out. There will be no odor on the hands if care is taken not to touch a cut surface of the onion. This can be easily avoided, or avoided whether easy or not. Cut off the top, break any skin left on at one side, and remove it, holding the onion between the thumb and finger so that not a bit of juice from the cut part touches them. Cook onions gently. If a few celery leaves are added and they are cooked gently they will not scent up the house. Nothing is finer than plain butter for a finish.

What's Your Child's School Like? Parent Urges Real Interest

By Mrs. M. J. O'Malley

A book on the care of babies by Mrs. Carolyn Conant Van Blarcom, a noted authority on the subject, can be had at The Tribune Public Service Office, 1 South Dearborn street, for 50 cents, or by mail for 65 cents.

Here is an eloquent, passionate, but unimpaired letter that came to me a few mornings ago. It only every mother and every mother would take it to heart!

"My dear Mrs. Evans: Your column of Oct. 9 filled in with some of the thoughts I have been thinking during these first autumn days. If you recall it, you gave us a true word picture of our school children, impressionable, sensitive, plastic, joyous, and may I add, original and individual. For I think we all hope that they may be a true description of our boys and girls.

"Does it ever seem to you that we and them off to school with too little investigation and inward questioning of the methods and environment to which they are subjected for six hours a day? As a parent I feel deeply indebted to the teacher who has devoted to the profession and it is not in a spirit of general criticism that I say that I feel that this type of teacher is a minority. In the small town there is little to attract the teacher who is ambitious to rise in her chosen field. I cherish the warm, sincere friendship of many of my boys' school teachers.

"However, it seems to me that facts are much too interesting in the latest methods of cars, too interested in facts, to give any serious attention to the real education of their boys. And mothers are so busy desiring and securing the latest in home furnishings that they seldom find time to visit schools more than twice a year and then it is usually on special days when the regular grind of the curriculum is put aside for gayety things.

"And how children do respond to play, and wouldn't it be fine if we as parents could see to it that our children have more of it in those long hours at school, during at least nine months of the year?

"What I ask you, would our grown-up nerves be like if we were obliged to sit in a space 34 feet in a room with about 40 other average grown-ups for six hours a day, nine months of the year? Of what value all this knowledge of the value of sunlight and fresh air for our youngsters when they are obliged to miss all the best sunlight, nine months of the year? So, my dear Mrs. Evans, I am sure we fear to be considered undemocratic, we continue to spend more of our money on cars and homes and give the public school and its teachers just the barest necessities.

"I am sure, but I could carry a banner for our school children."

"AN INTERESTED MOTHER."

Short Evening Wrap Adds Luxurious Folds

BY LOLITA.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondent.]—It's a case of "Very Good Lady." One refers to the elegant and stylish material which are such a feature of today's mode. Movement of inimitable grace and variety are obtained through these swirling lines of drapery which occur often in the back line, sometimes on the skirt, and less frequently on the corsage itself. That such draperies may succeed in individualizing today's popular short evening wrap is indicated by the above drawing. Made of banana silk, it describes the slanting line, the upward movement in front, and the tightly molded hips which are emphasized so constantly in the evening mode. And it is especially lovely with the yellow and black of mink add a total of great distinction.

Mink retains all of its authority in the evening mode. And it is especially lovely with the yellow and black of mink add a total of great distinction.

And, speaking of muffs, they claim today a great deal of attention from the designer of evening modes. Either large or small, often in the same and shape, they frequently complete the stately wrap. This is, of course, only one small current in a wave of mink revival. Among the latest of these to come from Paris are the broadtail affairs with gold or silver monogram in front.

PATTERNS BY CLOTHIDE

(Published by C. L. Patton, Editor)

WOMAN'S AND MISS DRESS.
This charming new design with the peplum blouse that emphasizes the higher waistline is made of a printed bodice with horizontal tucks across the center back at the waistline, creating a slightly swathed effect at each side. The neckline is collarless, cut in a deep V at the front, and rounding across the back, while the flaring skirt concentrates the fullness in the back, dipping the hemline there.

The pattern, 2983, comes in sizes 14 and 18 years and 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure. Size 38 requires 4 1/2 yards of 39 inch material with 3/4 yard of 39 inch contrasting.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Acting Under Orders.

Some time ago I worked in a small hat shop. One day I was given strict orders by the proprietress that when agents or salesmen called to inform them she was not in. About half an hour later, in came a salesman and, in accordance with orders received, I politely and emphatically told him the proprietress was out of the shop. Just at that moment to my surprise and dismay he walked from the rear room of the store and greeted him in the most friendly fashion.

He looked at me rather queerly. I hope he realized I was just acting under orders; but it proved to be my most embarrassing moment. J. M.

Bright Sayings of the Children

Little Bobbie, 4 years old, had an uncle some distance away whom he had never seen, but knew from the little surprises received from him occasionally through the mail. Recently he received something that delighted him very much and he turned to his mother and exclaimed enthusiastically: "Gee, mommy, Uncle Bob is a good sender, isn't he?" F. M.

Roy's father remarked to his mother that it was seven years since they had bought their home. "That must have been when I was nothing," Roy stated. T. H. H.

Wives Ask How to Cure Lazy Mates, but Hesitate to Act

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Is there a cure for a man who won't work, who is so constitutionally lazy he can't find work, even though he has been almost thrust upon him? If there is, I don't know it's formula.

One could suggest ten years at hard labor under military control, but if a woman loves the lazy bones in spite of his tired constitution, who is to suggest the penalty? Not I, again. In fact, I don't know what you can do for a lazy man except deprive him of food for a time. But would a woman in love with a lazy man deprive him of food? She would not.

Mary's case looks hopeless. The man is chronically lazy and apparently he had the disease before Mary decided to take him on. He has a charming personality, she will tell you, with which you may as well agree. One with little else to do ought to have time to develop a charming personality.

But by Mary's case aside for want of knowing what else to do with it, other girls ought to beware of the man who indulges in long stretches of unemployment. We know of one who has been clinging against party objection, against friends' objections to one of these pieces of deadwood for eight months. He admits he could get work to do, but not the kind that is becoming to his dignity as a worker. What a future that girl is storing up for herself!

One of the twelve good tests of character lies in a man's taste for work. If his constitution rebels, there is something deficient in his character. And almost all the people who have dealings with him discover that his great weakness lies in a ready willingness to live off people who have to work. Therein lies the sting for the girl who keeps on loving him. Here, shall I add, is the privilege of supporting him!

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

He Is Right.
"Dear Miss Blake: The boy I love when he is with me treats me great, but when at work actually ignores me. Does he love me?" MAR.

He realizes his work calls for his undivided attention, and that the time for girls is after working hours.

UTILITIES SPEND NEAR TWO BILLI

Huge Constr
Program for

BY ARTHUR CRAW

(Chicago Tribune Press Service)
Washington, D. C., Nov. 26.—President Hoover today formed by leading public utilities of the country that construction program for 1930 the expenditure of one billion dollars, an increase from 1929.

Besides this amount the utilities are expected to spend 410 million to maintain existing properties.

The totals represent work contemplated by electric light and power companies, gas companies, and natural gas companies.

Thirty-five executives of the utilities met at the White House today to discuss the program. The President, who is the President of the National Electric Light Association, presided.

It was the last of the series of conferences scheduled by the President with the heads of the various industries to discuss their activities in connection with the present economic situation.

Sloan Is Chief Spokesman

Matthew S. Sloan, president of the National Electric Light Association, acted as chief spokesman for the entire delegation. He said that the electric power and light companies, which are the backbone of the industry, were prepared to spend $1.5 billion for new construction in 1930. This included $400,000,000 for gas, $400,000,000 for electric power, and $700,000,000 for natural gas.

Statements were presented on behalf of the various utility groups showing the results of the construction program in 1929. Mr. Sloan said that the new construction program for 1930 would result in an increase of 265,000,000 kilowatt-hours of electric power, an increase of 12.5 percent over 1929. He also stated that the electric power companies were prepared to spend $400,000,000 for new construction in 1930, an increase of 10 percent over 1929.

No Reason to Cut Construction

The utility executives said they saw no reason to curtail their construction program for 1930. They pointed out that the construction program for 1930 was based on the assumption that the economy would continue to grow, and that the demand for electricity would continue to increase.

Mr. Sloan told the conference that the utility companies would make extensive improvements in their existing plants and equipment, and that they would also build new plants and equipment to meet the increasing demand for electricity.

Besides the general program presented for the three utility groups, the conference also heard reports from the individual companies on their construction programs for 1930.

C. E. Groesbeck, president of the Electric Bond and Share Company, said that his company was planning to spend $400,000,000 for new construction in 1930, an increase of 10 percent over 1929. He also stated that the company was prepared to spend $200,000,000 for improvements in its existing plants and equipment.

George B. Cortelyou, president of the Consolidated Gas Company of New York, said that his company was planning to spend $200,000,000 for new construction in 1930, an increase of 10 percent over 1929. He also stated that the company was prepared to spend $100,000,000 for improvements in its existing plants and equipment.

Halford Erickson, vice president of the Consolidated Gas Company of New York, said that his company was planning to spend $100,000,000 for new construction in 1930, an increase of 10 percent over 1929. He also stated that the company was prepared to spend $50,000,000 for improvements in its existing plants and equipment.

Mr. Sloan's summary of the construction program for 1930 was as follows: The electric power companies will spend $400,000,000 for new construction, the gas companies will spend $400,000,000 for new construction, and the natural gas companies will spend $700,000,000 for new construction.
